AURORAN

Editor Helen Richman depended on her fellow Quill and Scroll members for much help in the production of this 1949 yearbook. They helped to make the AURORAN wheels go around with a merry click. Seated from left to right are Helen Richman, editor, Doreen Henke, her senior assistant, Francene Glatstein, advertising manager, and Mary Boese, feature writer and typist. Quill and Scroll is an international honorary journalistic society for high school journalists.

Helen Richman

MUSCATINE HIGH SCHOOL
Muscatine, Iowa

My Purpose . . .

I am Helen Richman, editor of the 1949 AURO-RAN. My purpose in this book is to describe in picture and story the various happenings of the school year, some serious and some otherwise.

For the first portion of the book, I have chosen pictures representing the different types of classes and activities. Musky teachers co-operated by selecting the students and arranging the pictures. Next I have presented the students receiving the various honors bestowed by Musky High, with the exception of those receiving appointment to Quill and Scroll, the honorary journalistic society. This group appears in the frontispiece.

In the third section I have included all the student groups of M.H.S., and, of course, in this division the seniors come first. In the last section I have placed advertisements of the Musky supporters and some records of interest to the Musky fans. In various parts of this section students will find data about the graduating seniors.

My Co-Workers . . .

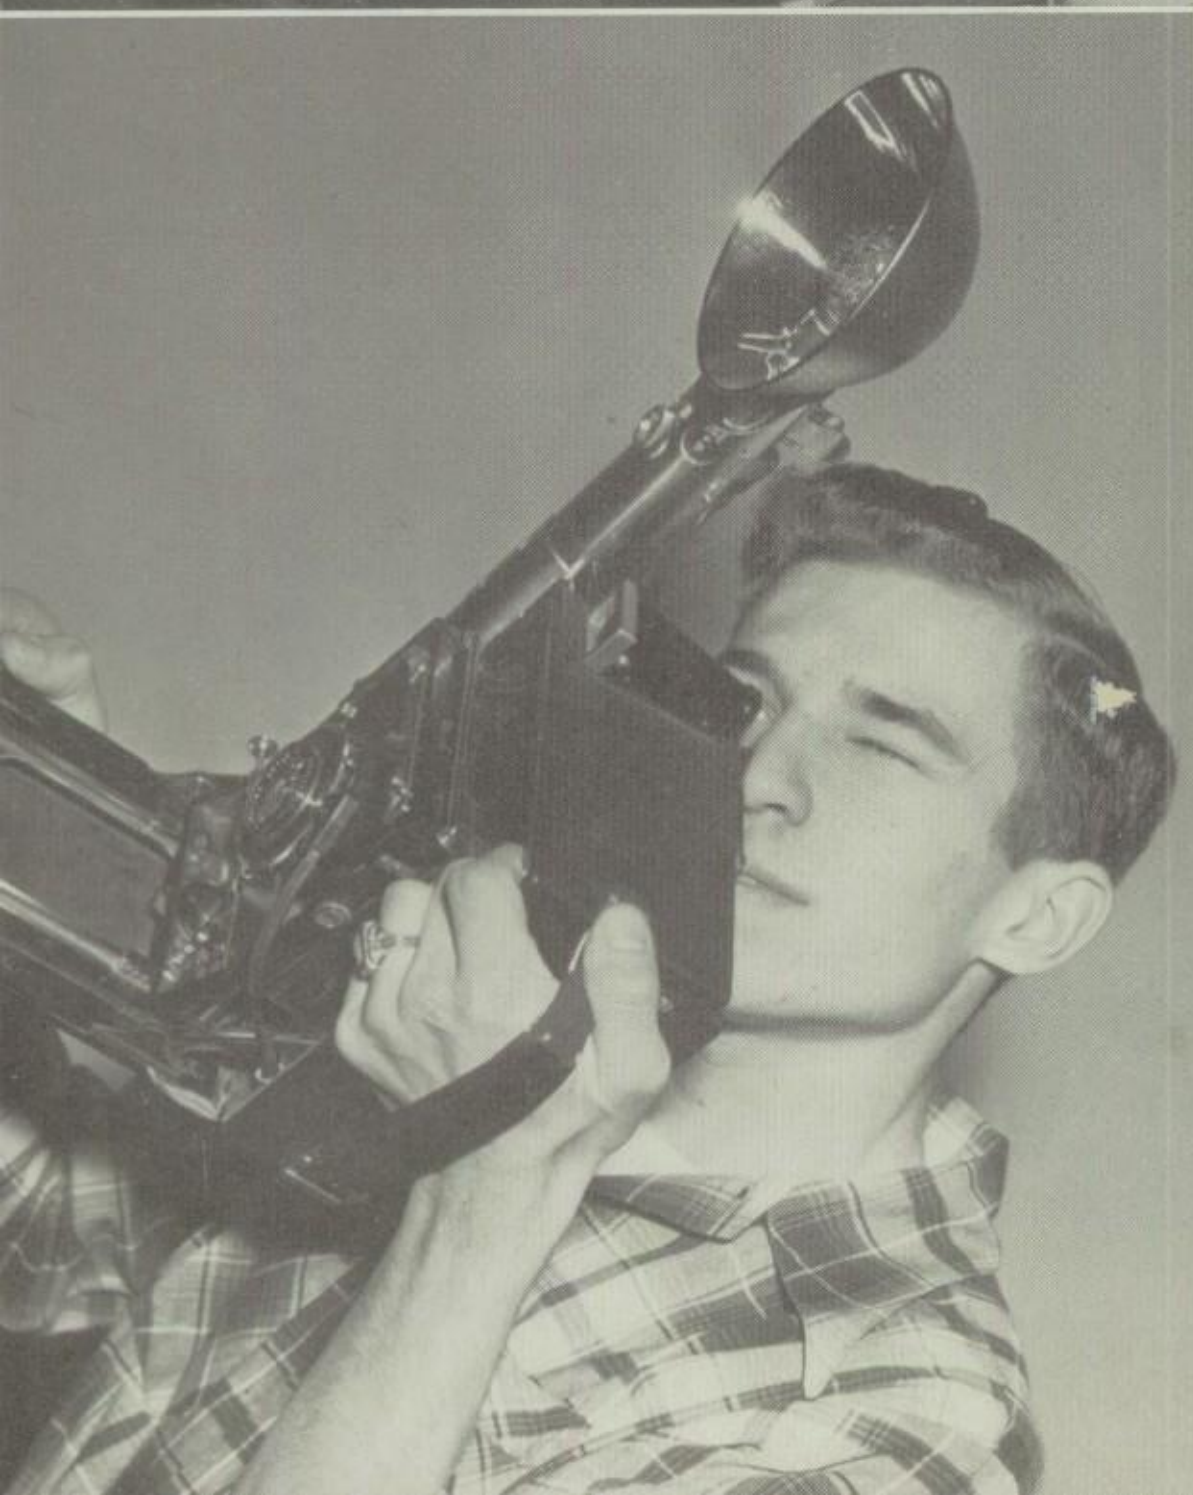

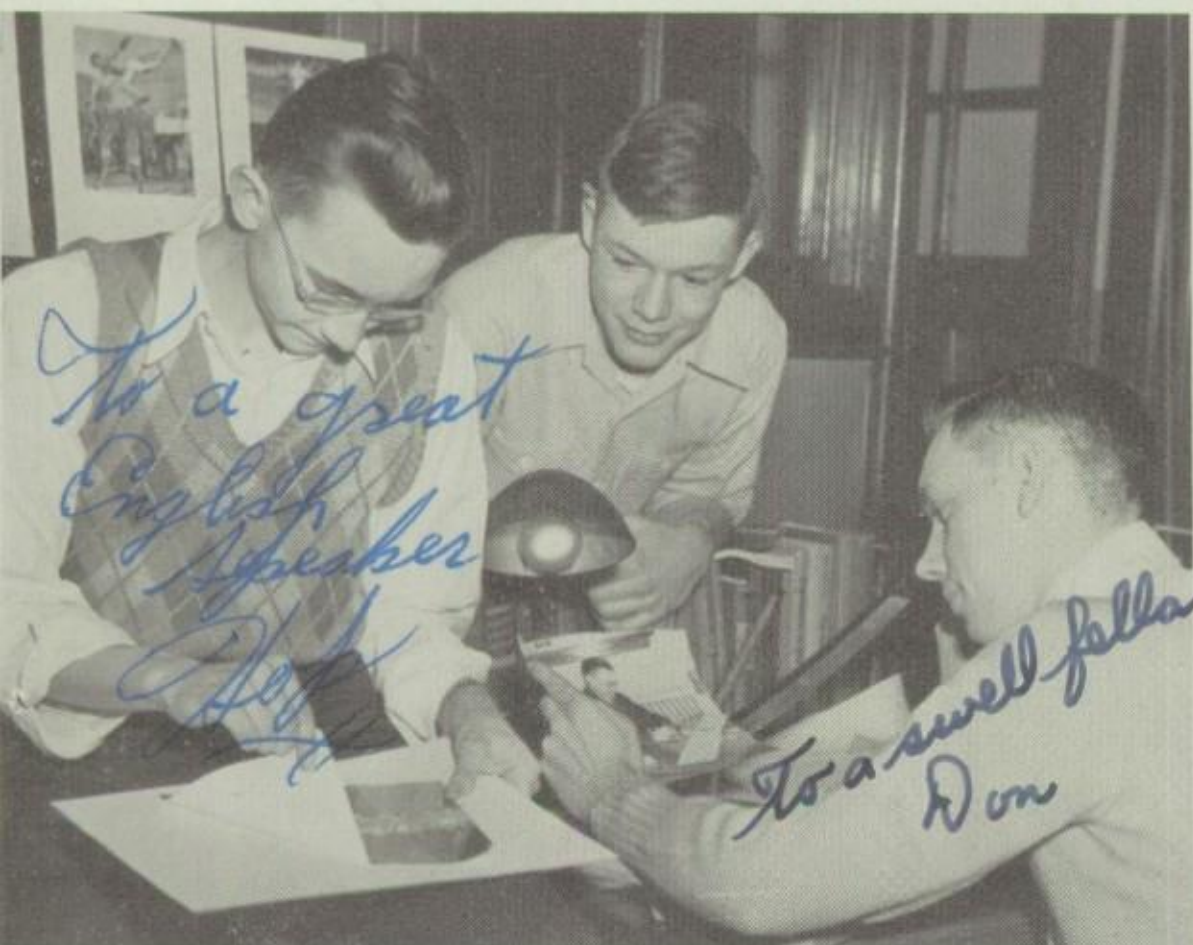

My task would have been impossible without help from my co-workers. Doreen Henke was my right-hand helper. Her help ranged from writing copy and headlines to going after the much needed evening lunch. Mary Boese provided much gayety and fun, as well as nimble fingers for typing. Frankie Glatstein was a good provider. She sold even more than her allotted number of pages of advertising. Kay Swickard and Margaret Ann Siemers were her excellent junior assistants. Other staff members who made their aid a valuable contribution were Darrell Hopkins, Don Walter, and Larry Miller, juniors, and Suzanne Stevens and Patty Fuller, sophomores.

Much of the credit for the informal pictures goes to Robert Bauer, circulation manager of the Muscatine Journal. Chamberlin's Studio took the formal pictures, and Jahn and Ollier of Chicago did the engraving. The Economy Advertising Company of Iowa City were the printers of the book. That company also made the lithograph for the end sheet.

AURORAN work is never done. Hopefully Kay Swickard and Marg Siemers fitted ads in the newspaper dummy. Frankie Glatstein worked on the yearbook dummy, sharing a desk with Al Watson, who recorded contracts as Florence Easterday read them. Joan Borgstadt (left), Margaret Curry, and Doreen Henke searched through drawers for missing copy. "Money, money everywhere!" Suzanne Stevens (top), Pat Fuller, and Norma Dollman picked up $25 in small change.

Larry Miller (center) bossed Darrell Hopkins (left) in straightening a crooked picture. Don Walter found that he had cut F. G. Messenger's picture a bit slanting. Gene Meek (left) addressed bi-weeklies as Junior House helpfully folded them. With a squinting eye giving "that professional look," Tom Marten took pictures for the newspaper and some for the yearbook. The old AURORANS give many laughs. One made Shirley Walker (left) and Mary Boese howl with glee.

Most important among the helpers in any high school task is Principal Frederick Glen Messenger. Yearbook work caused this gentleman many a headache, but, when the AURORAN workers found themselves in a tight spot, they knew F. G. M. would help them out. These calls for help at least added variety to this man's life. Staff members might be asking him for help in getting copy, arranging the stage for pictures, or planning game sales.

Another of the AURORAN staff's best friends was Mrs. Marie Ruthenberg, office secretary. Her familiar signature on work permits, her help in securing necessary supplies, and her ready sympathy and encouragement were all a definite part of this book. Assisting Mrs. Ruthenberg was the student office secretary, Donna Eichelberger. Up to some mischief at the phone were (left to right) Freda Fuller, Jo Ann Brauns, Betty Bartenhagen, and Margaret Thompson.

Faculty members had varied interests. John Baird (left) attempted to slip George the Hamster (center) down Carl Paetz's back. Archie Martin (right) let Art Mittman explain a problem. Miss Geneva Grace, Mrs. Jeanne Jahnke, and Miss June Lingo (left to right) received instructions on testing soil from Lindley Hoopes. Bob Hade puzzled over his equipment. Mearl Wood displayed his stamp collection to Floyd Scott (left) and Miss Louisa Jericho.

Miss Elizabeth Smith (left) and Mrs. Mildred Fogarty explored a movie projector while Charles Shook played the organ. Eating the lunch prepared by a third-year homemaking class were (left to right) Esther Toyne, Fred Messenger, Shirley Gifford, Ted Allen, Shirley Leach, Miss Mary Bielefeld, and Miss Florence Hahn. Miss Hetty Kemble (left) laid aside her Latin cares to model a Spanish costume for Miss Catherine Miller.

In serious discussion about the blue prints for building improvements were Superintendent of Schools A. A. Johnson and two school board members, Julian Havercamp and Clifford Worst. Mr. Havercamp, president of the board during the greater portion of the 1948-1949 school year, was not a candidate for re-election. Mr. Worst became president of the board as a result of the election of officers after board election in March.

Two more of the powers-that-be, Marinus Jensen, assistant principal, and Miss Eula Downer, dean of girls, conferred over student records in Miss Downer's office. Late Muskies became well acquainted with Mr. Jensen, whose task it was to encourage Muskies to get to school on time. He was also athletic manager and cafeteria director. Miss Downer guided Musky girls in their woes and joys and gave counsel to those in difficulty.

Spring was in the air and everyone was beginning to think of summer and vacation when coaches Skip Weber (left) and Lefty Schnack pushed aside their work for the purpose of daydreaming together. Travel folders of everywhere cluttered the desk. Skip Weber coached the Musky football team and the basketball C Squad and taught boys' physical education. Lefty Schnack spent his time with the basketball A Squad and civics for the seniors.

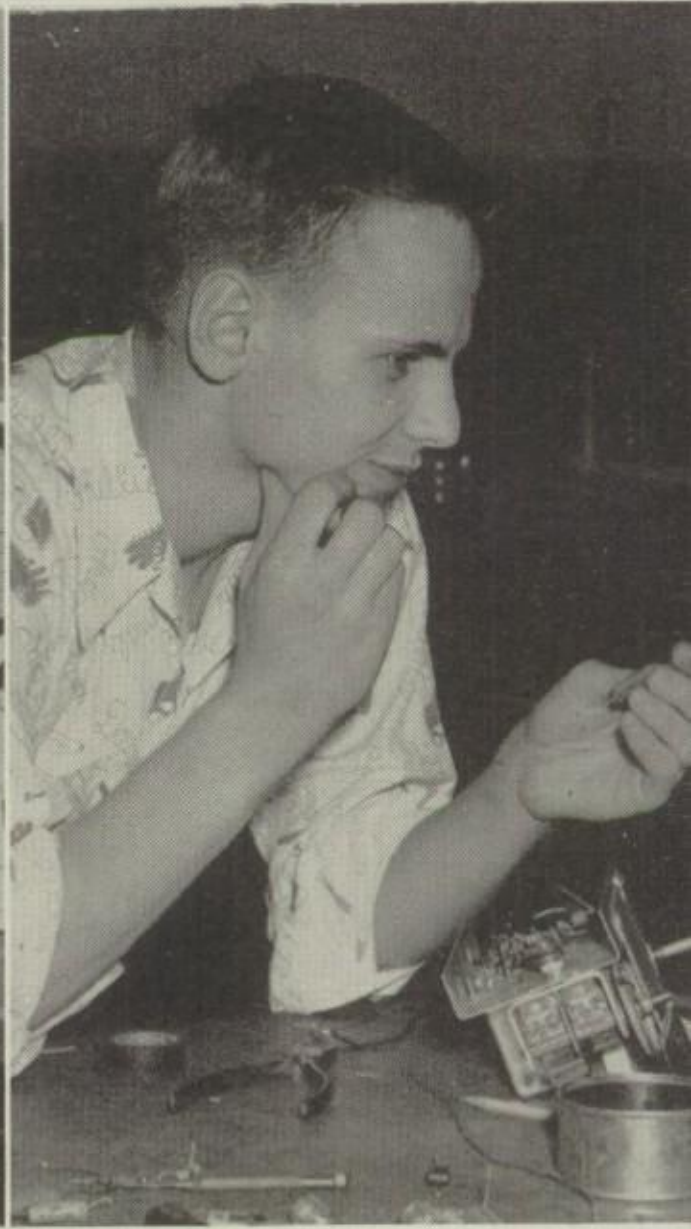

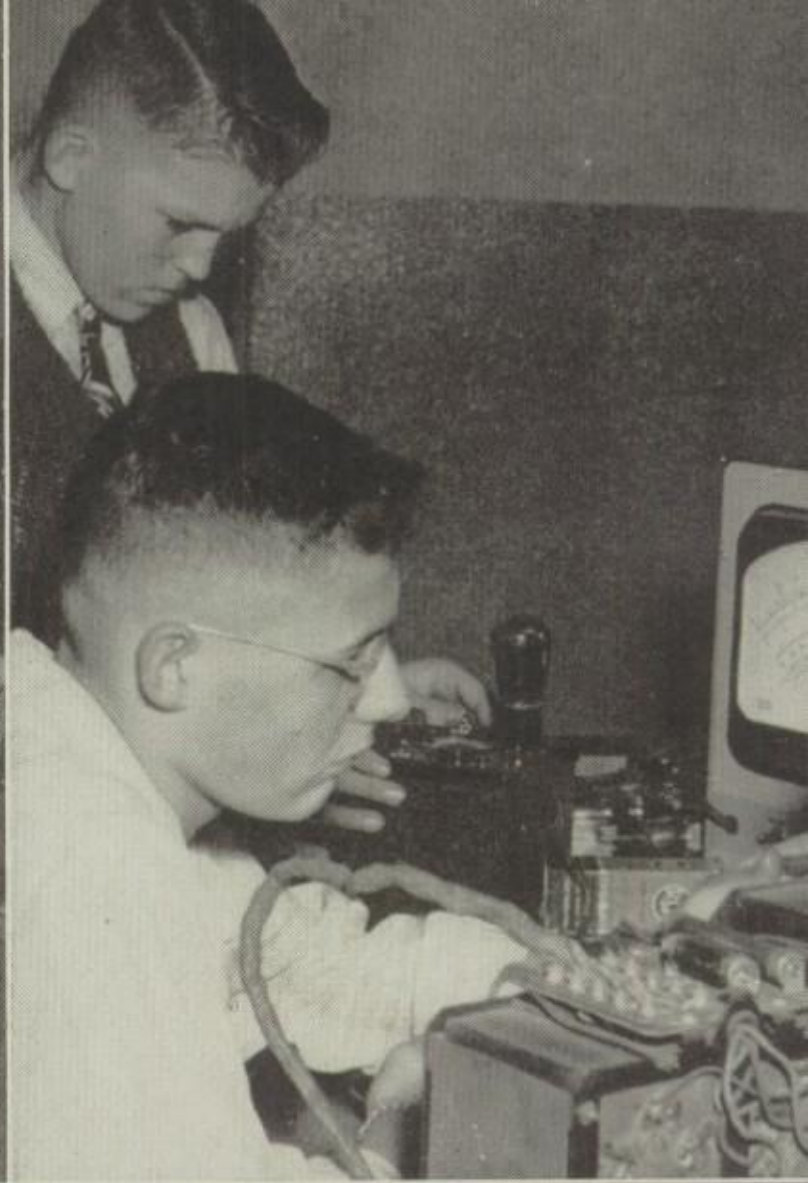

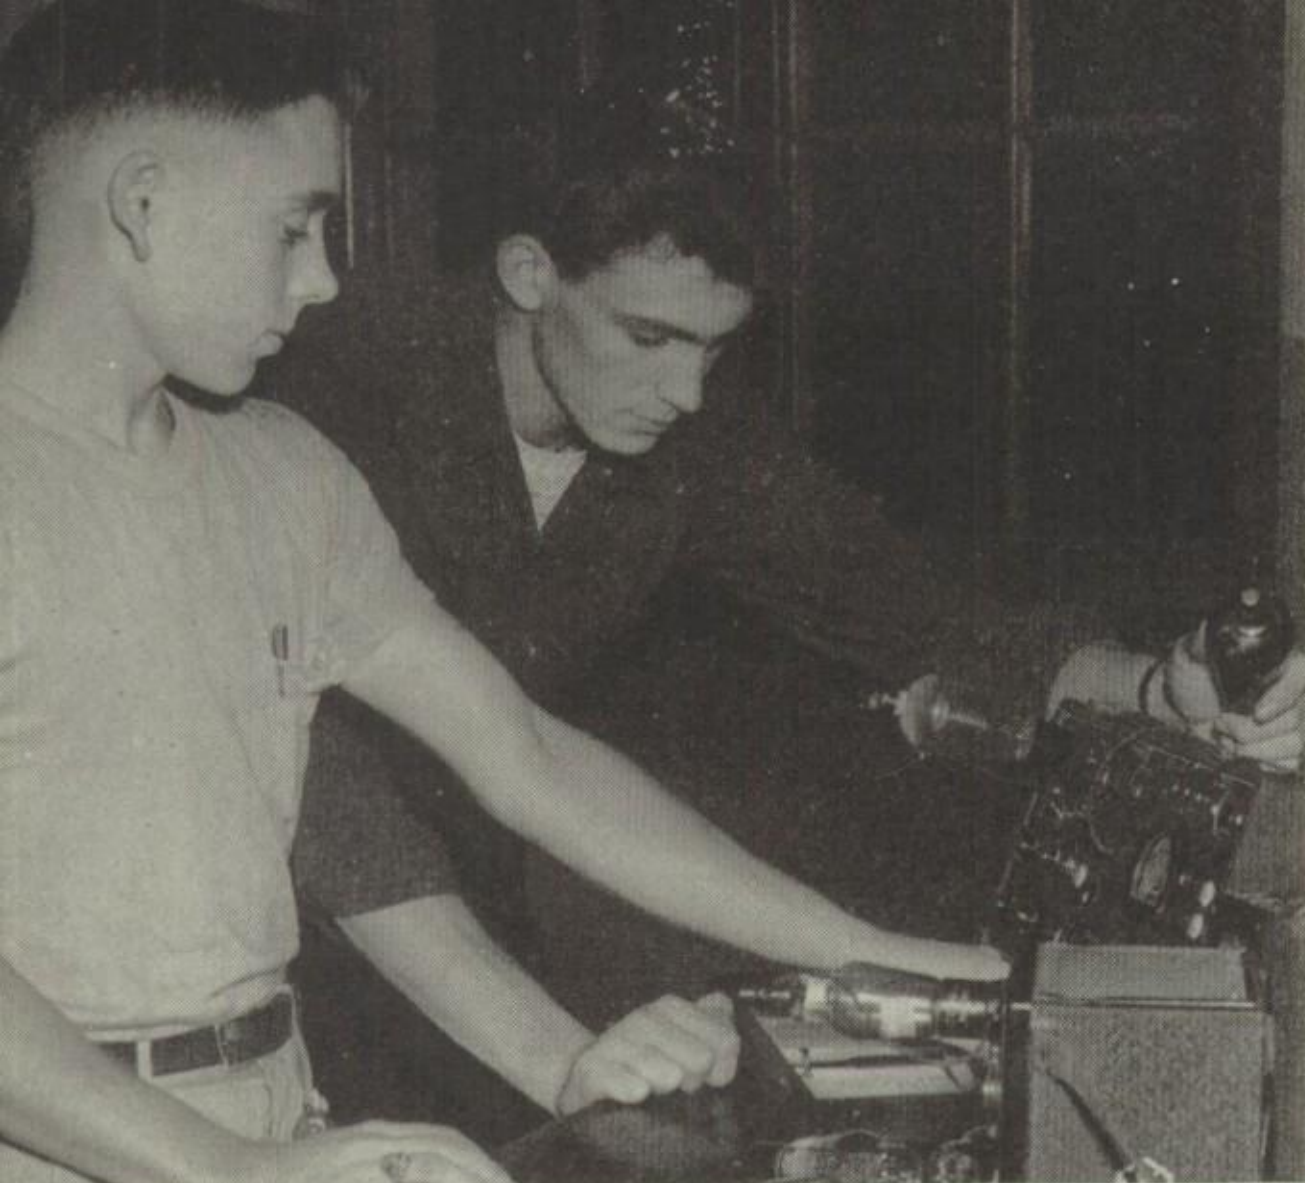

Carl Paetz (left) and Bob Hanson examined their decoys and wondered what they could do with a rifle. The word "duck" is enough to interest any man, and when duck season rolls around, there is no stopping the hunters. Mr. Paetz was one of the new members on this year's faculty. He was assistant football coach and a mathematics teacher. Mr. Hanson coached the B Squad football and basketball and track besides teaching history.

Some of the busiest people in M.H.S. are the janitors. Mrs. Gertrude Steele stopped to chat with Fred Bronner, who was washing windows, and she was soon put to work. Robert Schmidt found that the pencil sharpener in Lady's room could be a problem. Sweeping the halls was one of George McCaffrey's duties, and W. G. Easterday's tasks included emptying waste baskets, sweeping classrooms, and making coffee for the AURORAN staff.

Radios fascinated Muskies. John Lewis (left) and Ed Knott tested transmitter tubes on a tube checker. Dick Rieke (front) tested radio power supply with a vacuum-tube voltmeter while Herman Theobald tested radio tubes. To align a radio made by the radio class John Phillips (left) and Richard Havercamp used a signal generator and a cathode-ray oscilloscope. George Wecksung puzzled over parts for a portable radio kit.

A total of 57 Muskies were in F.F.A. Livestock classes judged Chester-White gilts at the home farm of Henry Sywassink and Sons. Don Scott (member of the above class) gave an Angus steer a "Toni" wave in preparation for showing at the county fair in Muscatine. The steer won second place. Robert Brei, Bob Helm, and Ralph Buster (left to right) checked field records at Robert Brei's home farm, where Robert had a hybrid corn test plot.

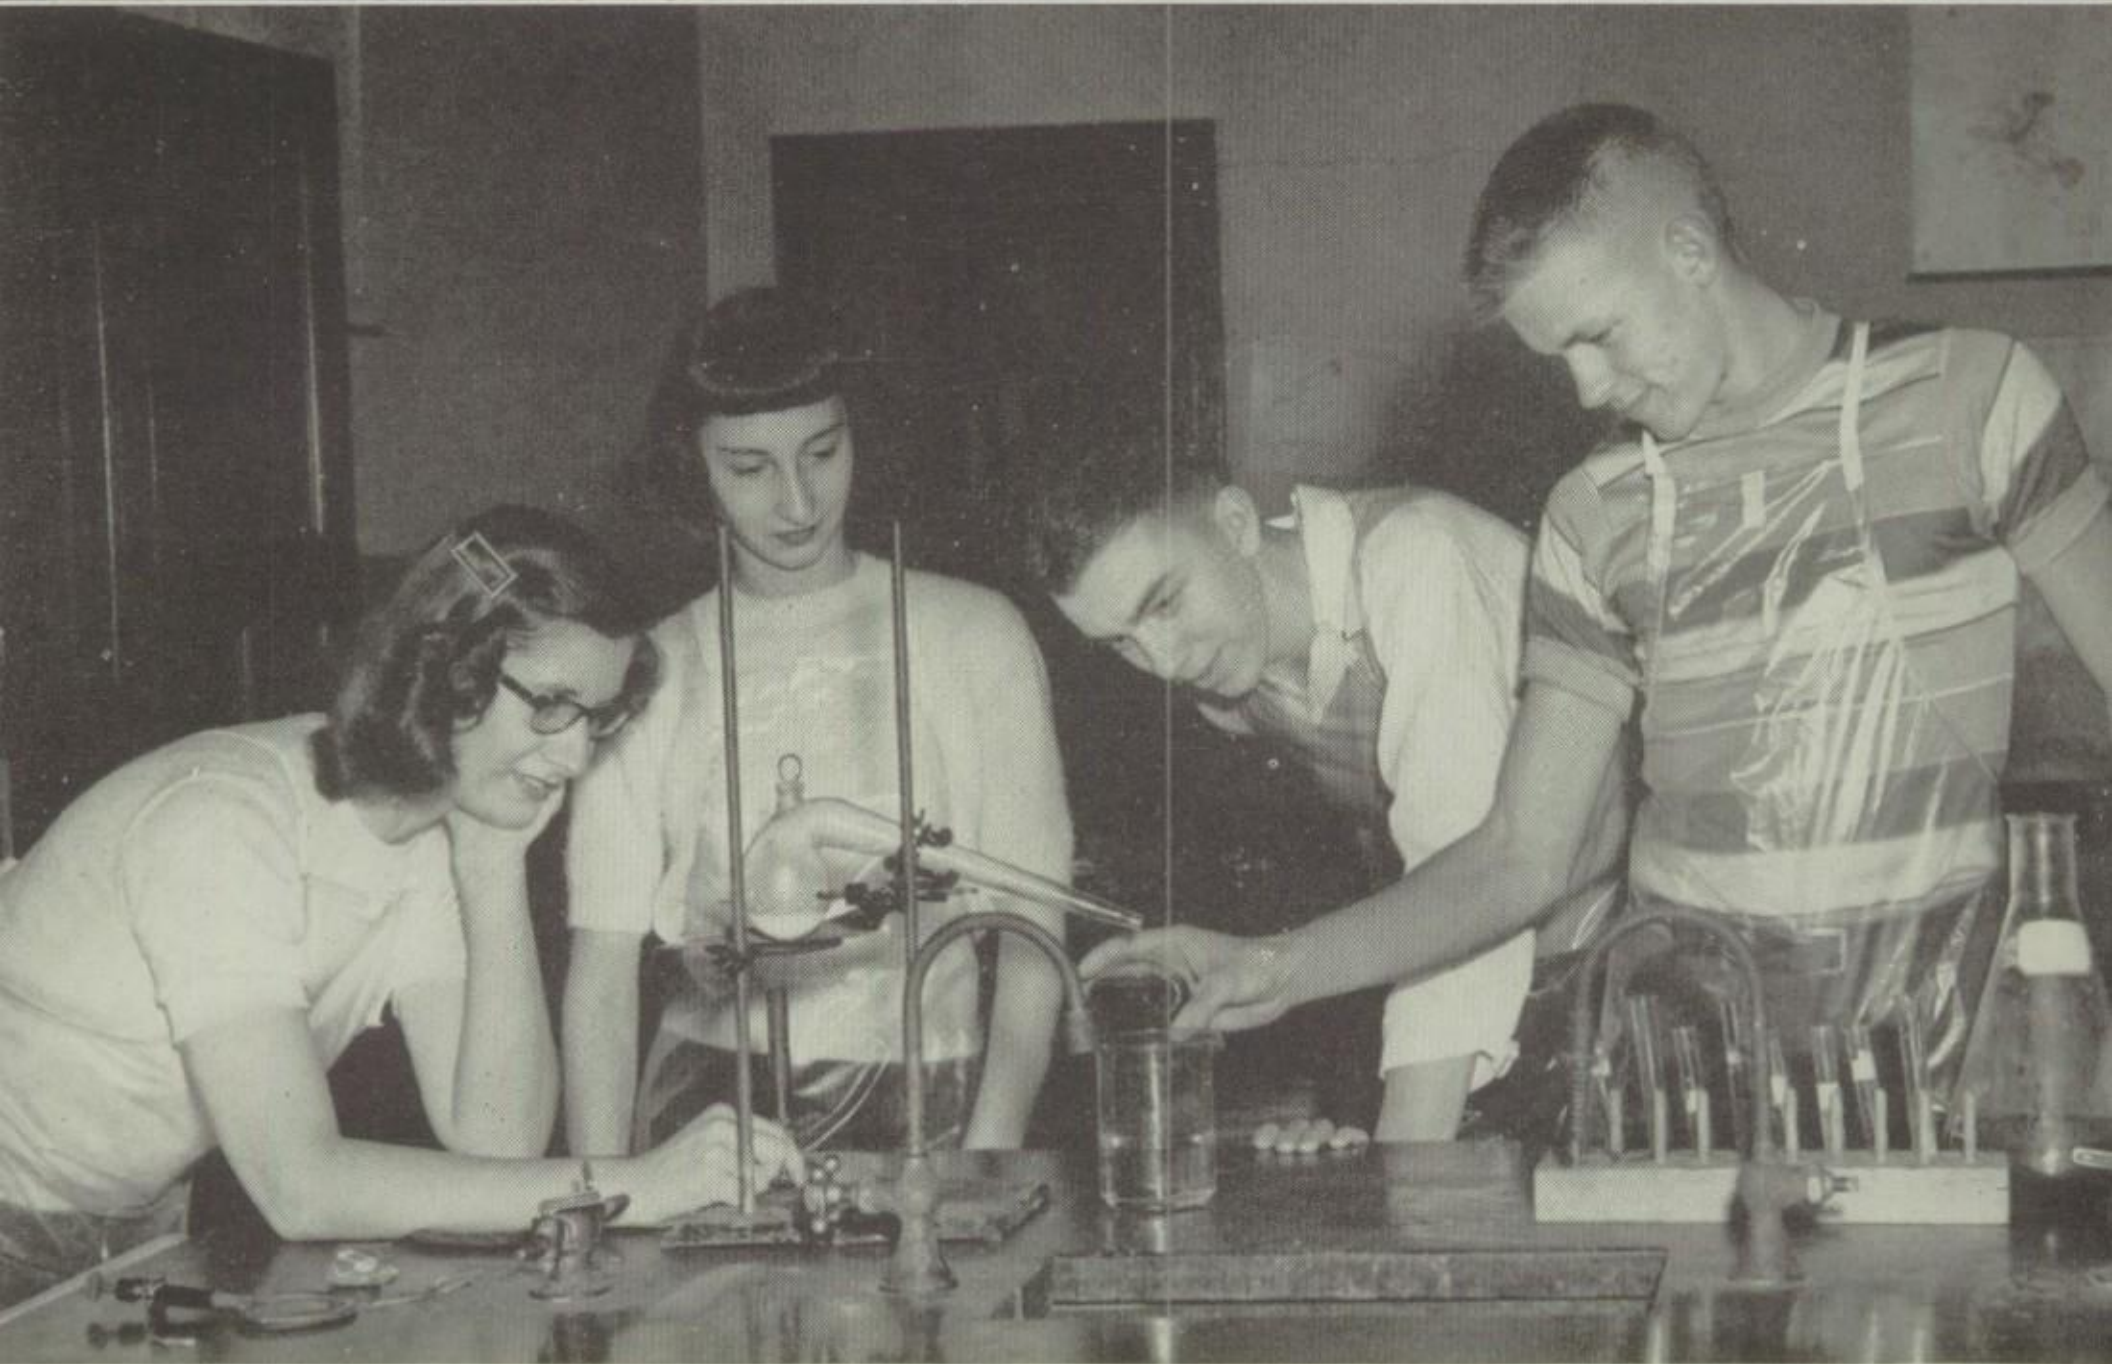

Florence Hahn (center) watched Vivian Olson, Phyllis Sprouse, Jo Ann Kollman, and Helen Pippert (left to right) make luscious pies. Cleaning up always follows cooking. While Margie Ward washed dishes and Della Varney wiped them, Bonnie Maxwell put things away. Angeline Rock (left) carefully pinned a slip cover on a cushion and Freda Fuller sanded a stool. Meanwhile, Alice Maddox hammered happily away, tacking down a slip cover.

Gloria Van Zyle (left) sewed a fine seam and watched Jo Ann Case measure Donna Taylor's skirt and Miss Mary Bielefeld hold up a pattern for size. Anna Mae Worthington (left) tried on her homemaking project at the same time Phyllis Jens refrained from moving long enough for Mary Goddard to mark the hem in the skirt Phyllis made. Miss Evelyn Schultz showed Barbara Lewis, Kaye Stumme, and Joyce Rummells (left to right) some gleaming silver.

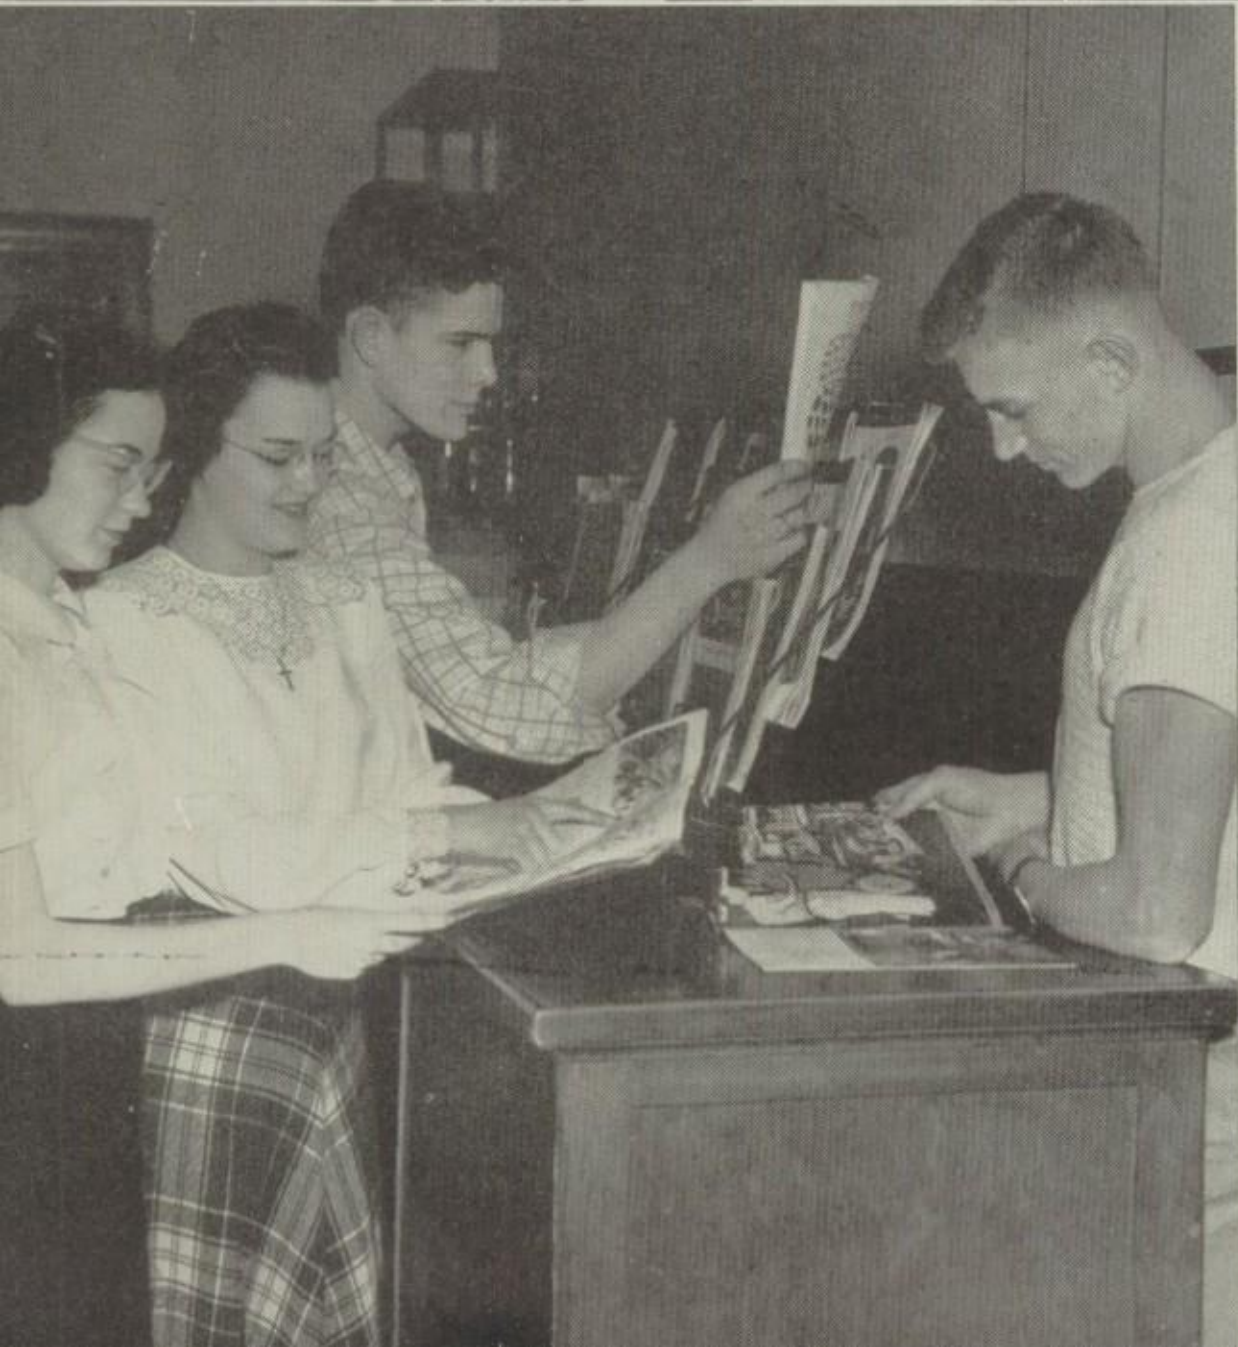

The drivers' training course offers Musky students a wonderful opportunity to learn the technique of managing a car. Judy Winstead and Patrolman Ralph Akers discussed something up ahead before Judy drove off in the dual control car in hopes of getting her driver's license. Almost in the picture but not quite, Dick Petty watched Shirley Sander (left) type Alice Kretschmar's driver's license, which Sgt. Leonard Simms handed her.

Commercial students were busy Muskies. Janet Logel (left) and Rubie Nugent did some mimeographing in one of the little rooms off the office. Rose Logel made use of the adding machine, adding the figures Dwaine Pahl read to her. Some good hard study was the main object Dorothy Beckman, Emma Frost, and Joy DeVries (left to right) had in mind when they settled down on some side steps. The typewriter evidently gave Leland Brase trouble.

Skip Meerdink (left) took over conductor's duties as John Hahn, Bob Wulf, and he gave out some off-the-record harmony. Doug McConnaha turned disc-jockey and spun his favorite record. Mary Dawson accompanied Nancy Templeman (top), Alice Nichols, and Betty Evans (bottom) when they practiced in the entry way off the chorus room. These girls made up the girls' trio and received a I rating at the district contest this spring.

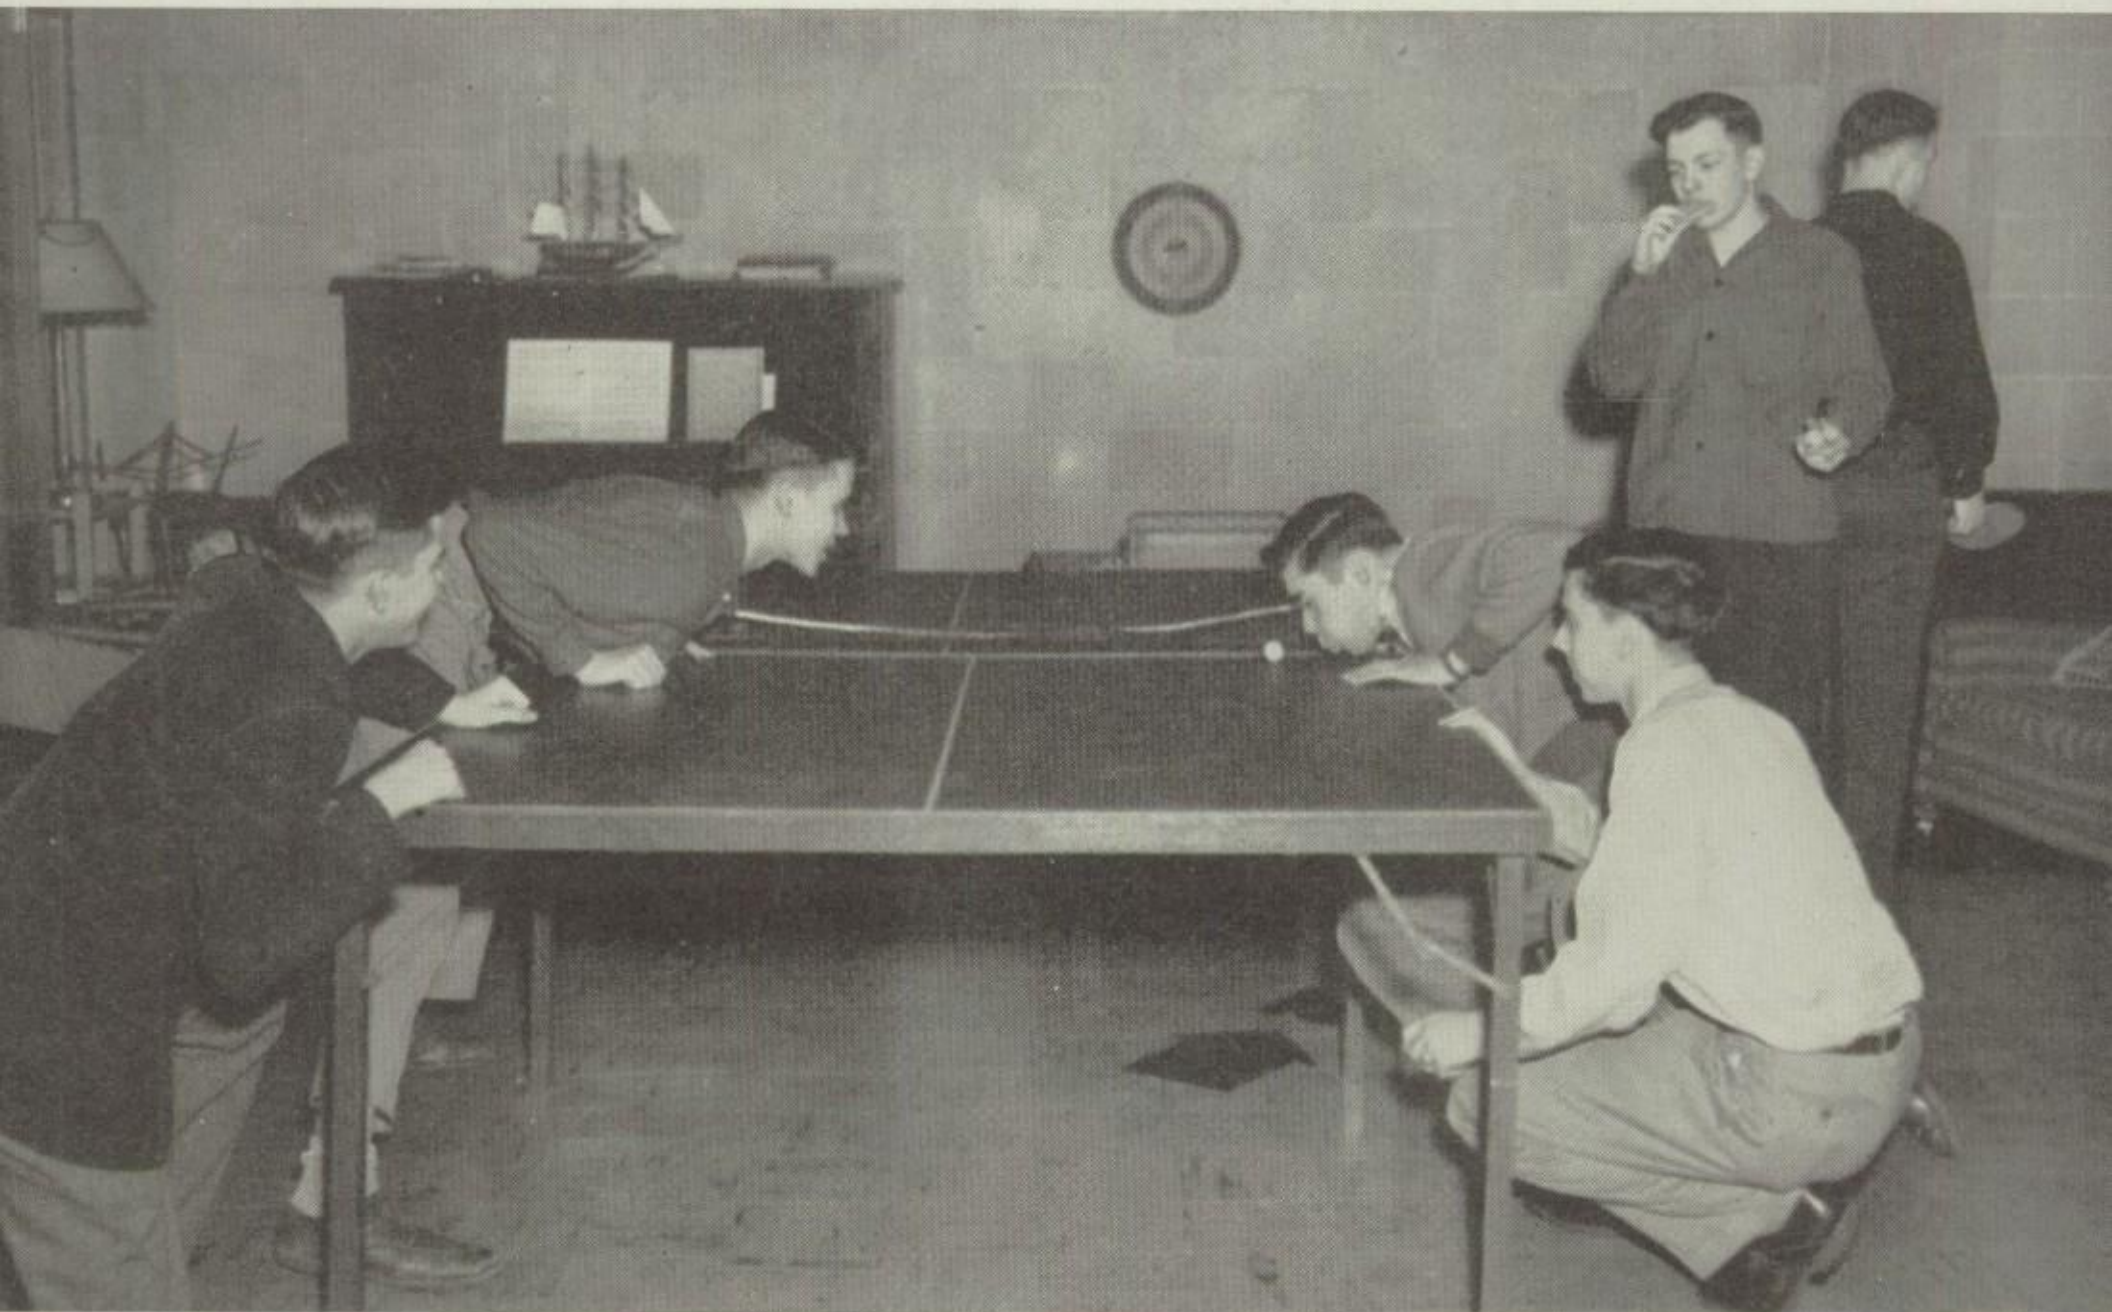

All's not work for the Musky band. Mary Alice Hoopes had fun riding behind Bob Jones on a bicycle. Loretta Wyckoff (left), Eileen Sohn, and Regina Fath took time to gossip while getting ready to play in the band. Barbara Whitmer (left) and Kathryn Weber went off by themselves so Barb could toot on her French horn and Kathy on a clarinet. The long and short of it was the way it looked when the Crow twins and Bob Lawler got together.

Marge Lewis had some trouble tying her tie, and, if Jim Torrence had not come to the rescue, she probably would have given up hope. Jerry Newton (left) was almost a one-man band. Bill Jacobs joined him in turning out some hot music to a boogie beat. Diane Odell (left) blew a mellow note on the clarinet to keep Warren Froehner company while he practiced. Janet Rummells consulted Max Smith, band director, about a new music score.

Debaters trooped to Dick Stanley's playroom for a night of fun. George Webster and Dick Stanley battled Jim McKinney and Jerry Miller (left to right) in blowing a ping-pong ball on a table. Ronnie Brookhart watched while satisfying his hunger, but Jim Hillier turned his back. Ruthellen Soltwedel (left) and Kathleen Rutledge tackled the problem of putting a puzzle together. Pick-up sticks gave Dick Petty (left) and Jim Hillier entertainment.

In between games, Dick Stanley took time out to wax his skis. Ronald Brookhart was forced to leave the merrymaking to retrieve his carefully prepared debate notes scattered over the floor and unscramble them, a process which was slow. Chess games provide concentrated diversion. Ed Knott (left) found himself in a fix and was at a loss as to a way out when he attempted a game. George Webster, with a sly look, got ready to pounce on his victim.

Work and fun went into "The Great American Family." (Left to right) Pauline Coder, Janice Hathaway, Janice Egel, and Doris Kemper handed props to Dodie Duncan, Normarie Doerfer, and Donna O'Brien. Berry Tracy and Emily Evans cleaned the set as Audrey Schlapkohl helped Doug Ager (back) center a bookcase, and Bill Jacobs and John Nail mended a chair. Elaine Masonholder, Dick Symmonds, Carl Dipple, and Bob Evans (left to right) set the stage.

Brad Burns went mad, scaring Ray Freers, Jerry Bueser, Bob Maeglin, and Jacky Kautz, and distracted Francene Glatstein called the doctor (left to right). Make-up crew had fun fixing themselves. Barbara Huber (back) fixed Marilyn Essex, Lois Safley worked on Anna Workman, and Lois Greenblatt made Marian Isaac's hair fashionable. Fred England (left) worked the spot light and waited for Harold Pace (right) and Rex Feustel to pull the curtain.

Basketball games were not confined to just the nights the Schnackmen played. Intramural games provided interest and fun for Muskies at noon when the intramural teams took to the hard court in quest of victories. The camera stopped some action in a typical fray under the basket as Virgil Hamer and Ivan Cochran (right) battled for the ball. Awaiting the outcome of the tussle were (left to right) Kenny Phelps, John Phillips, Neil Fitzmorris, and Eddie Stark.

"He loves me. He loves me not. He loves me." The cheerleaders chanted this well-known ditty hopefully during one of the often-held hen sessions women like so well. Plucking daisy petals were (left to right, front): Virginia Havercamp, Pat Zeug, Margery Stegall, and Evelyn Hoopes. Mary Ann Yarck, Rosaine Stark, and Pat Ridge (left to right, back) joined in the tell-tale chant. They all tried their best to make it come out right.

Football dressing rooms are scenes of many wrestling matches. Marv Hoeksema was a victim of one, and all the tactics learned playing tackle were of no use. Jake Phelps, Bob Jones, and Bill Johnson attacked one side, with John Phillips at the head and Lemuel Massey, John Hahn, and Bill Sturms (left to right) helping on the other side. The intentions of Harlan Phillips were unknown, but Marv had reason to think he would take a flying leap.

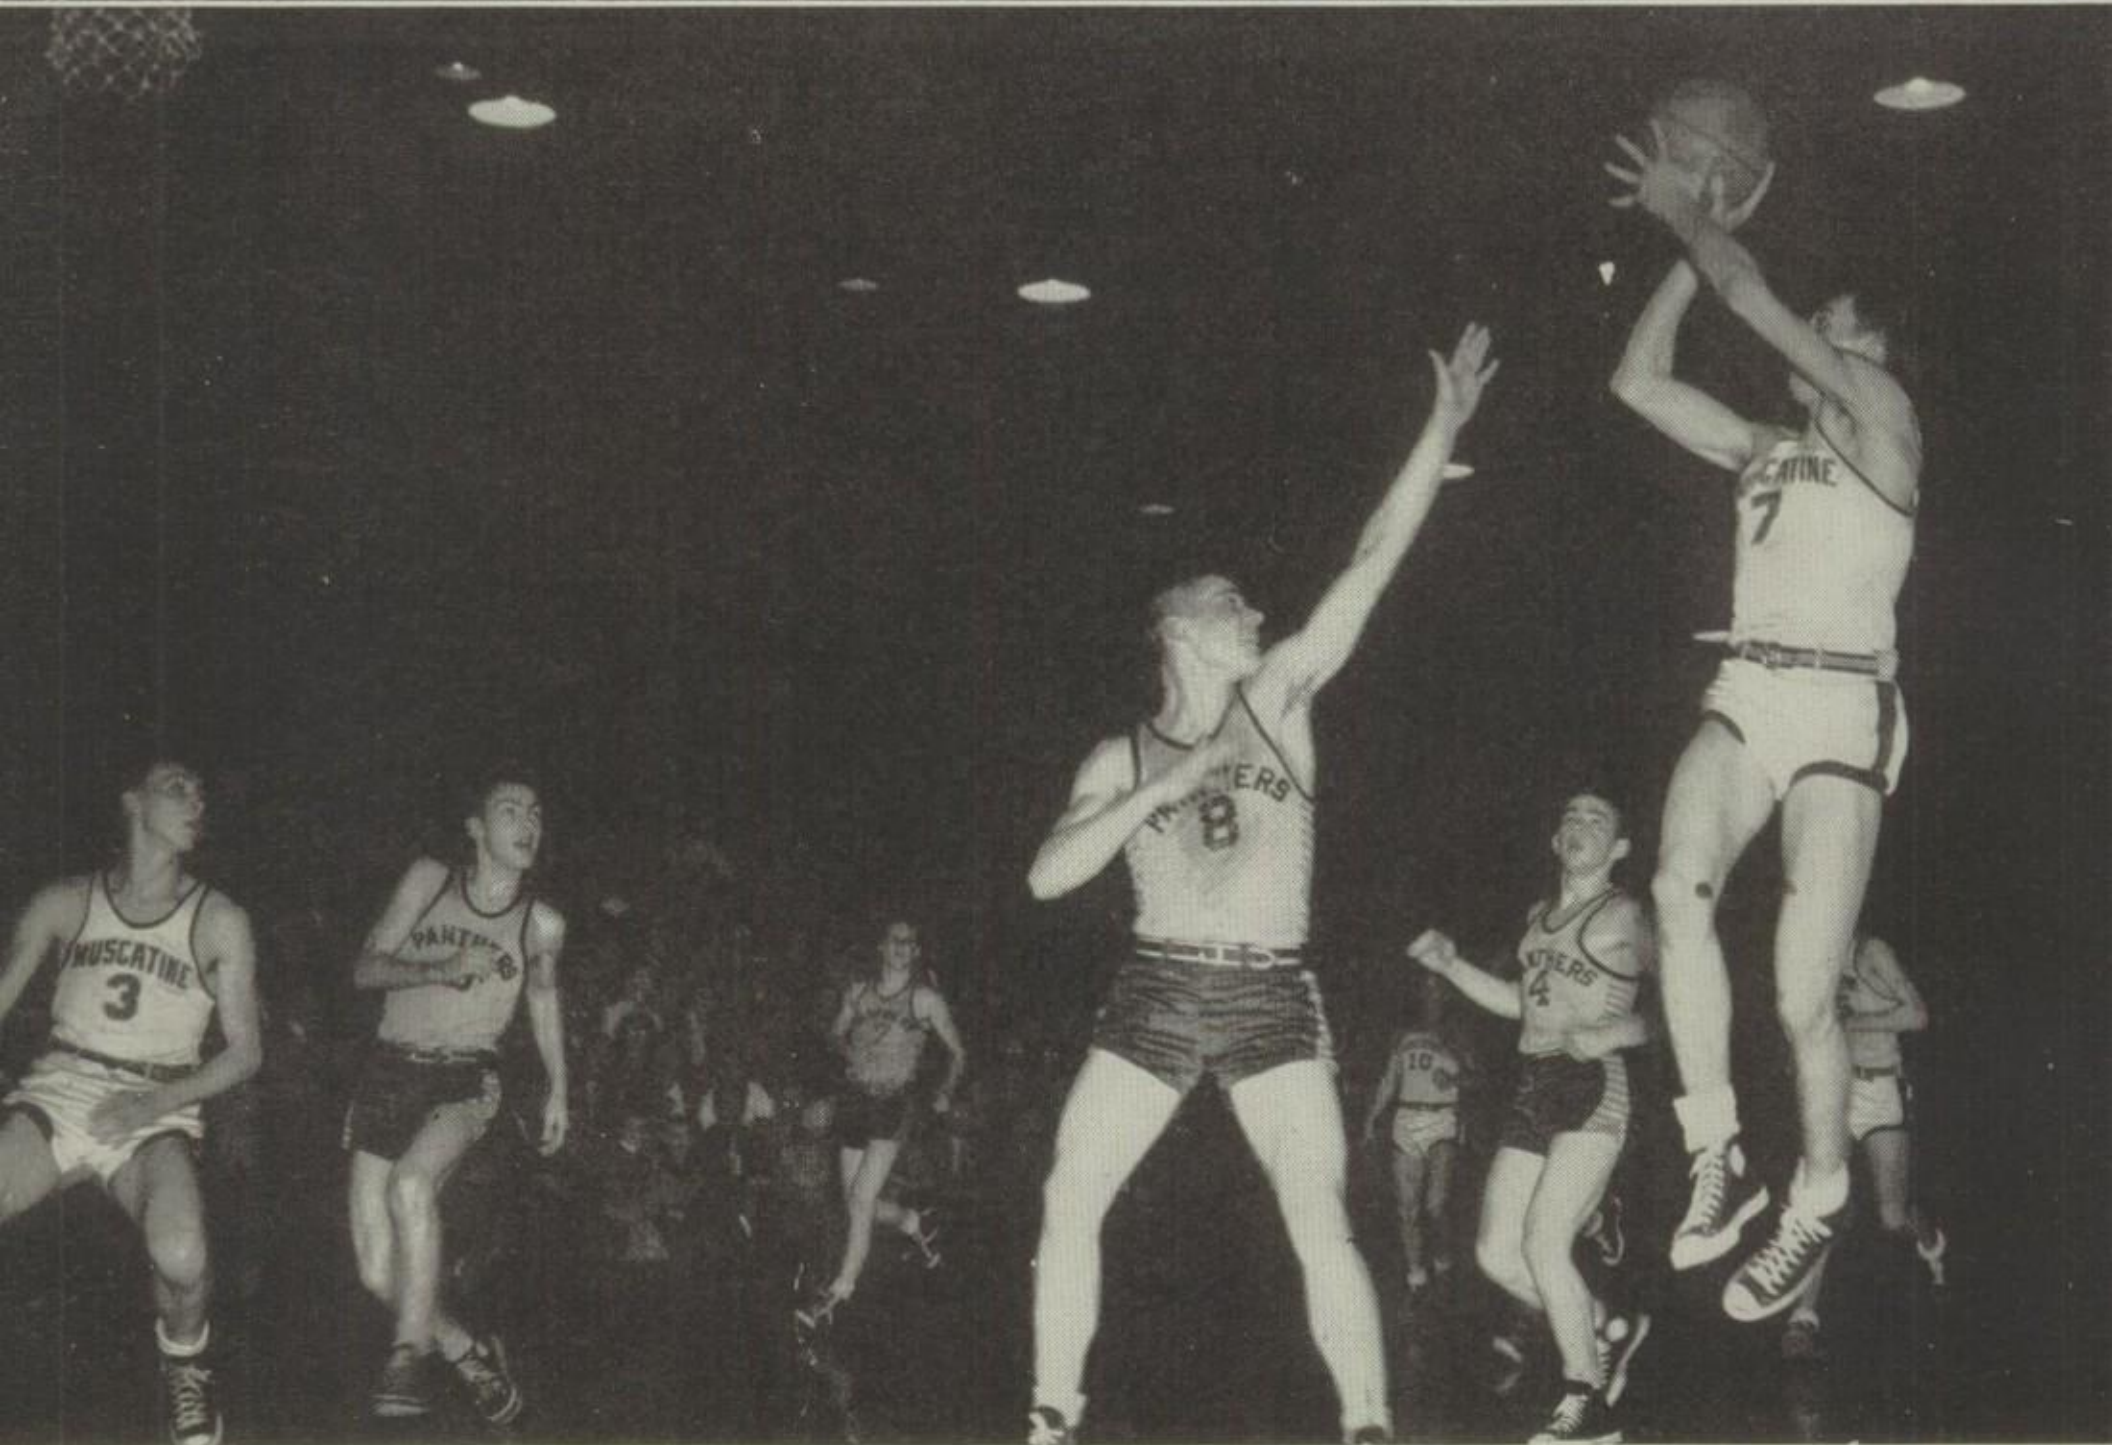

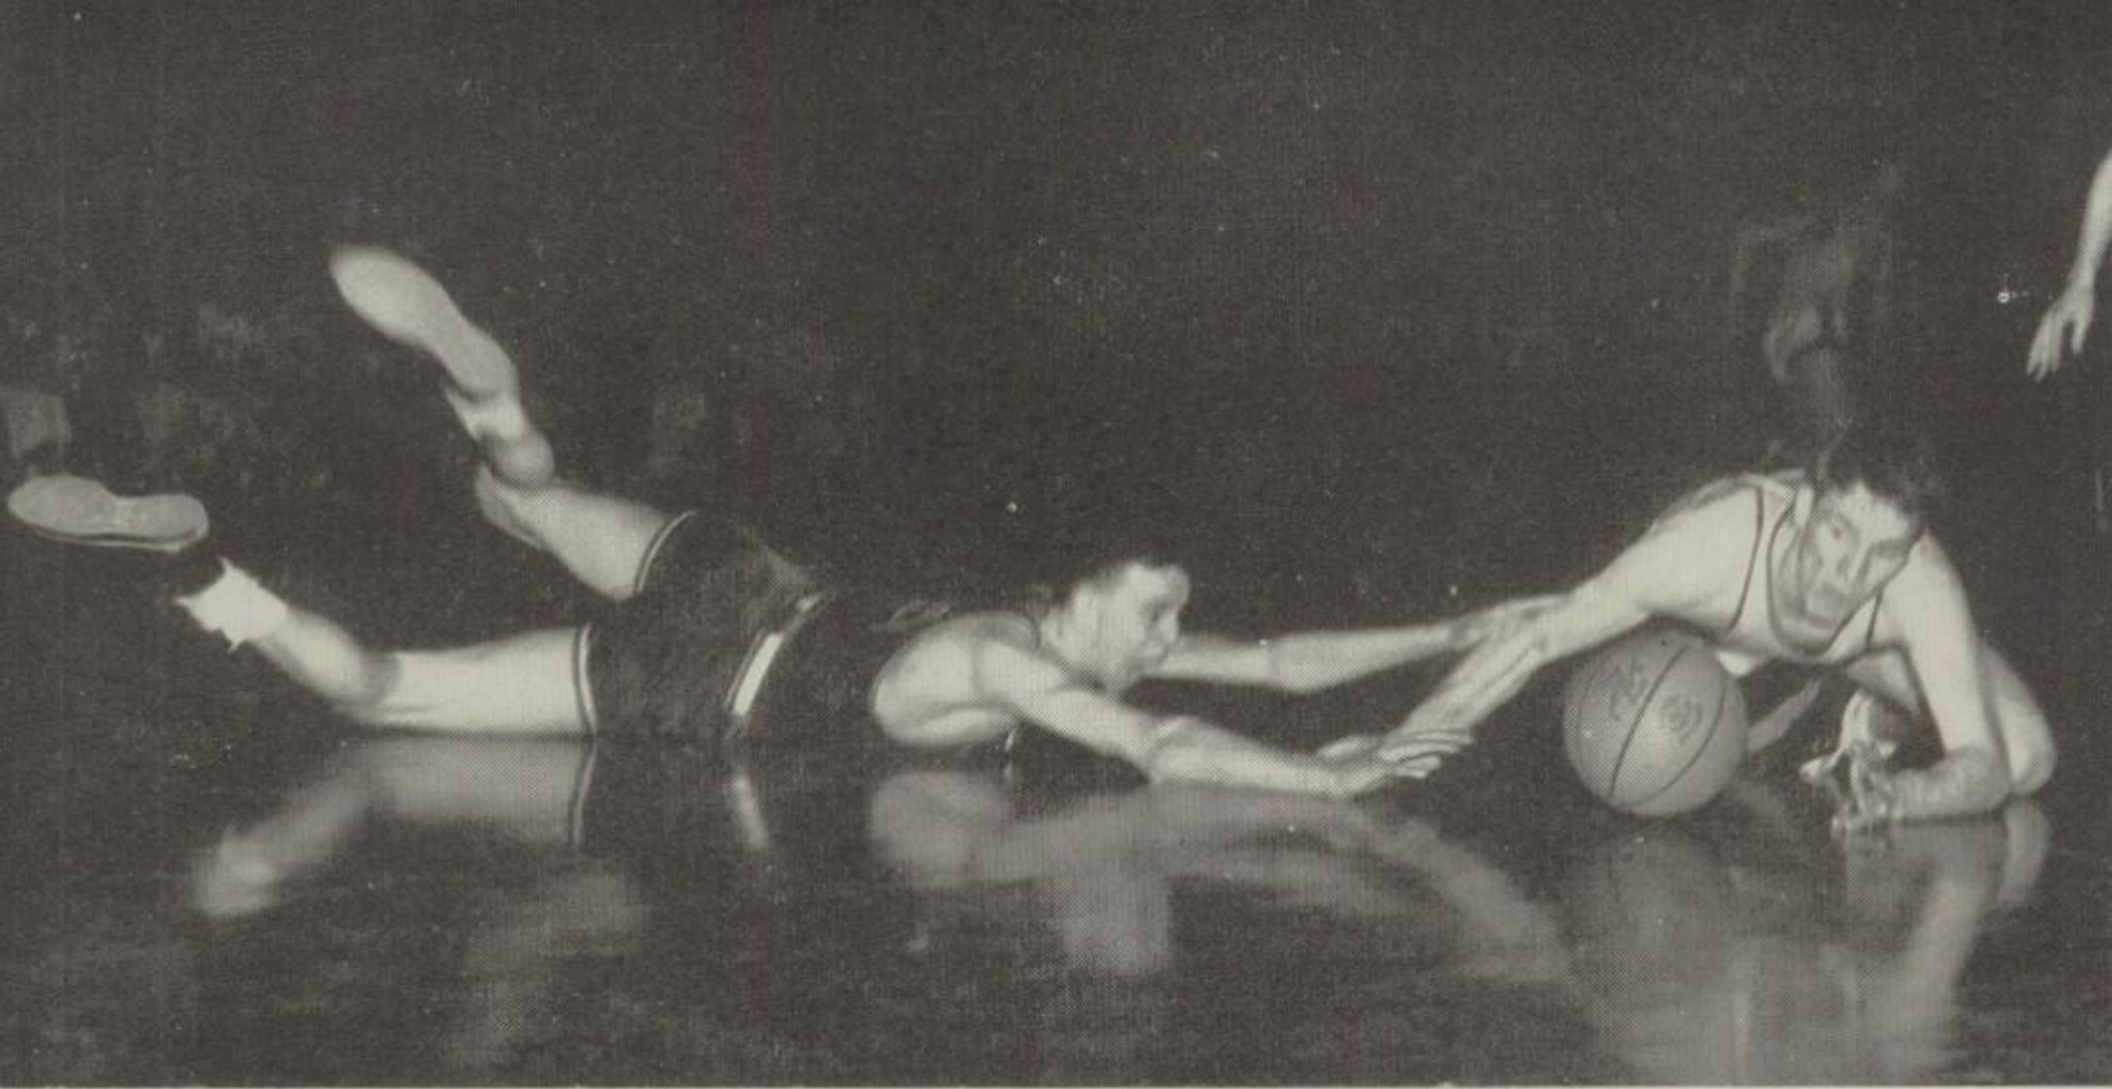

In any sport, teamwork is essential, and Musky gridgers showed their willingness to co-operate as Bill Sturms (78) and an unidentified Musky put the clamp on a Washington Demon. Kenny Riswold (85) came up on the play to give aid. Harlan Phillips stopped a Keokuk tackler for Gary Gordy (89) toting the pigskin around end. Trailing the play in hopes of escorting Gary to the goal line were Don Marine (left) and Bill Johnson.

The success of a football team comes from the drive and determination of the players. In the season's opener at Davenport's Municipal Stadium, Bill Sturms, Musky co-captain and all-conference back, fought for a few extra yards for the Muskies before being hauled to a standstill by a St. Ambrose tackler. However, Bill made a number of spectacular runs before the season drew to a close. St. Ambrose won the battle 25-0.

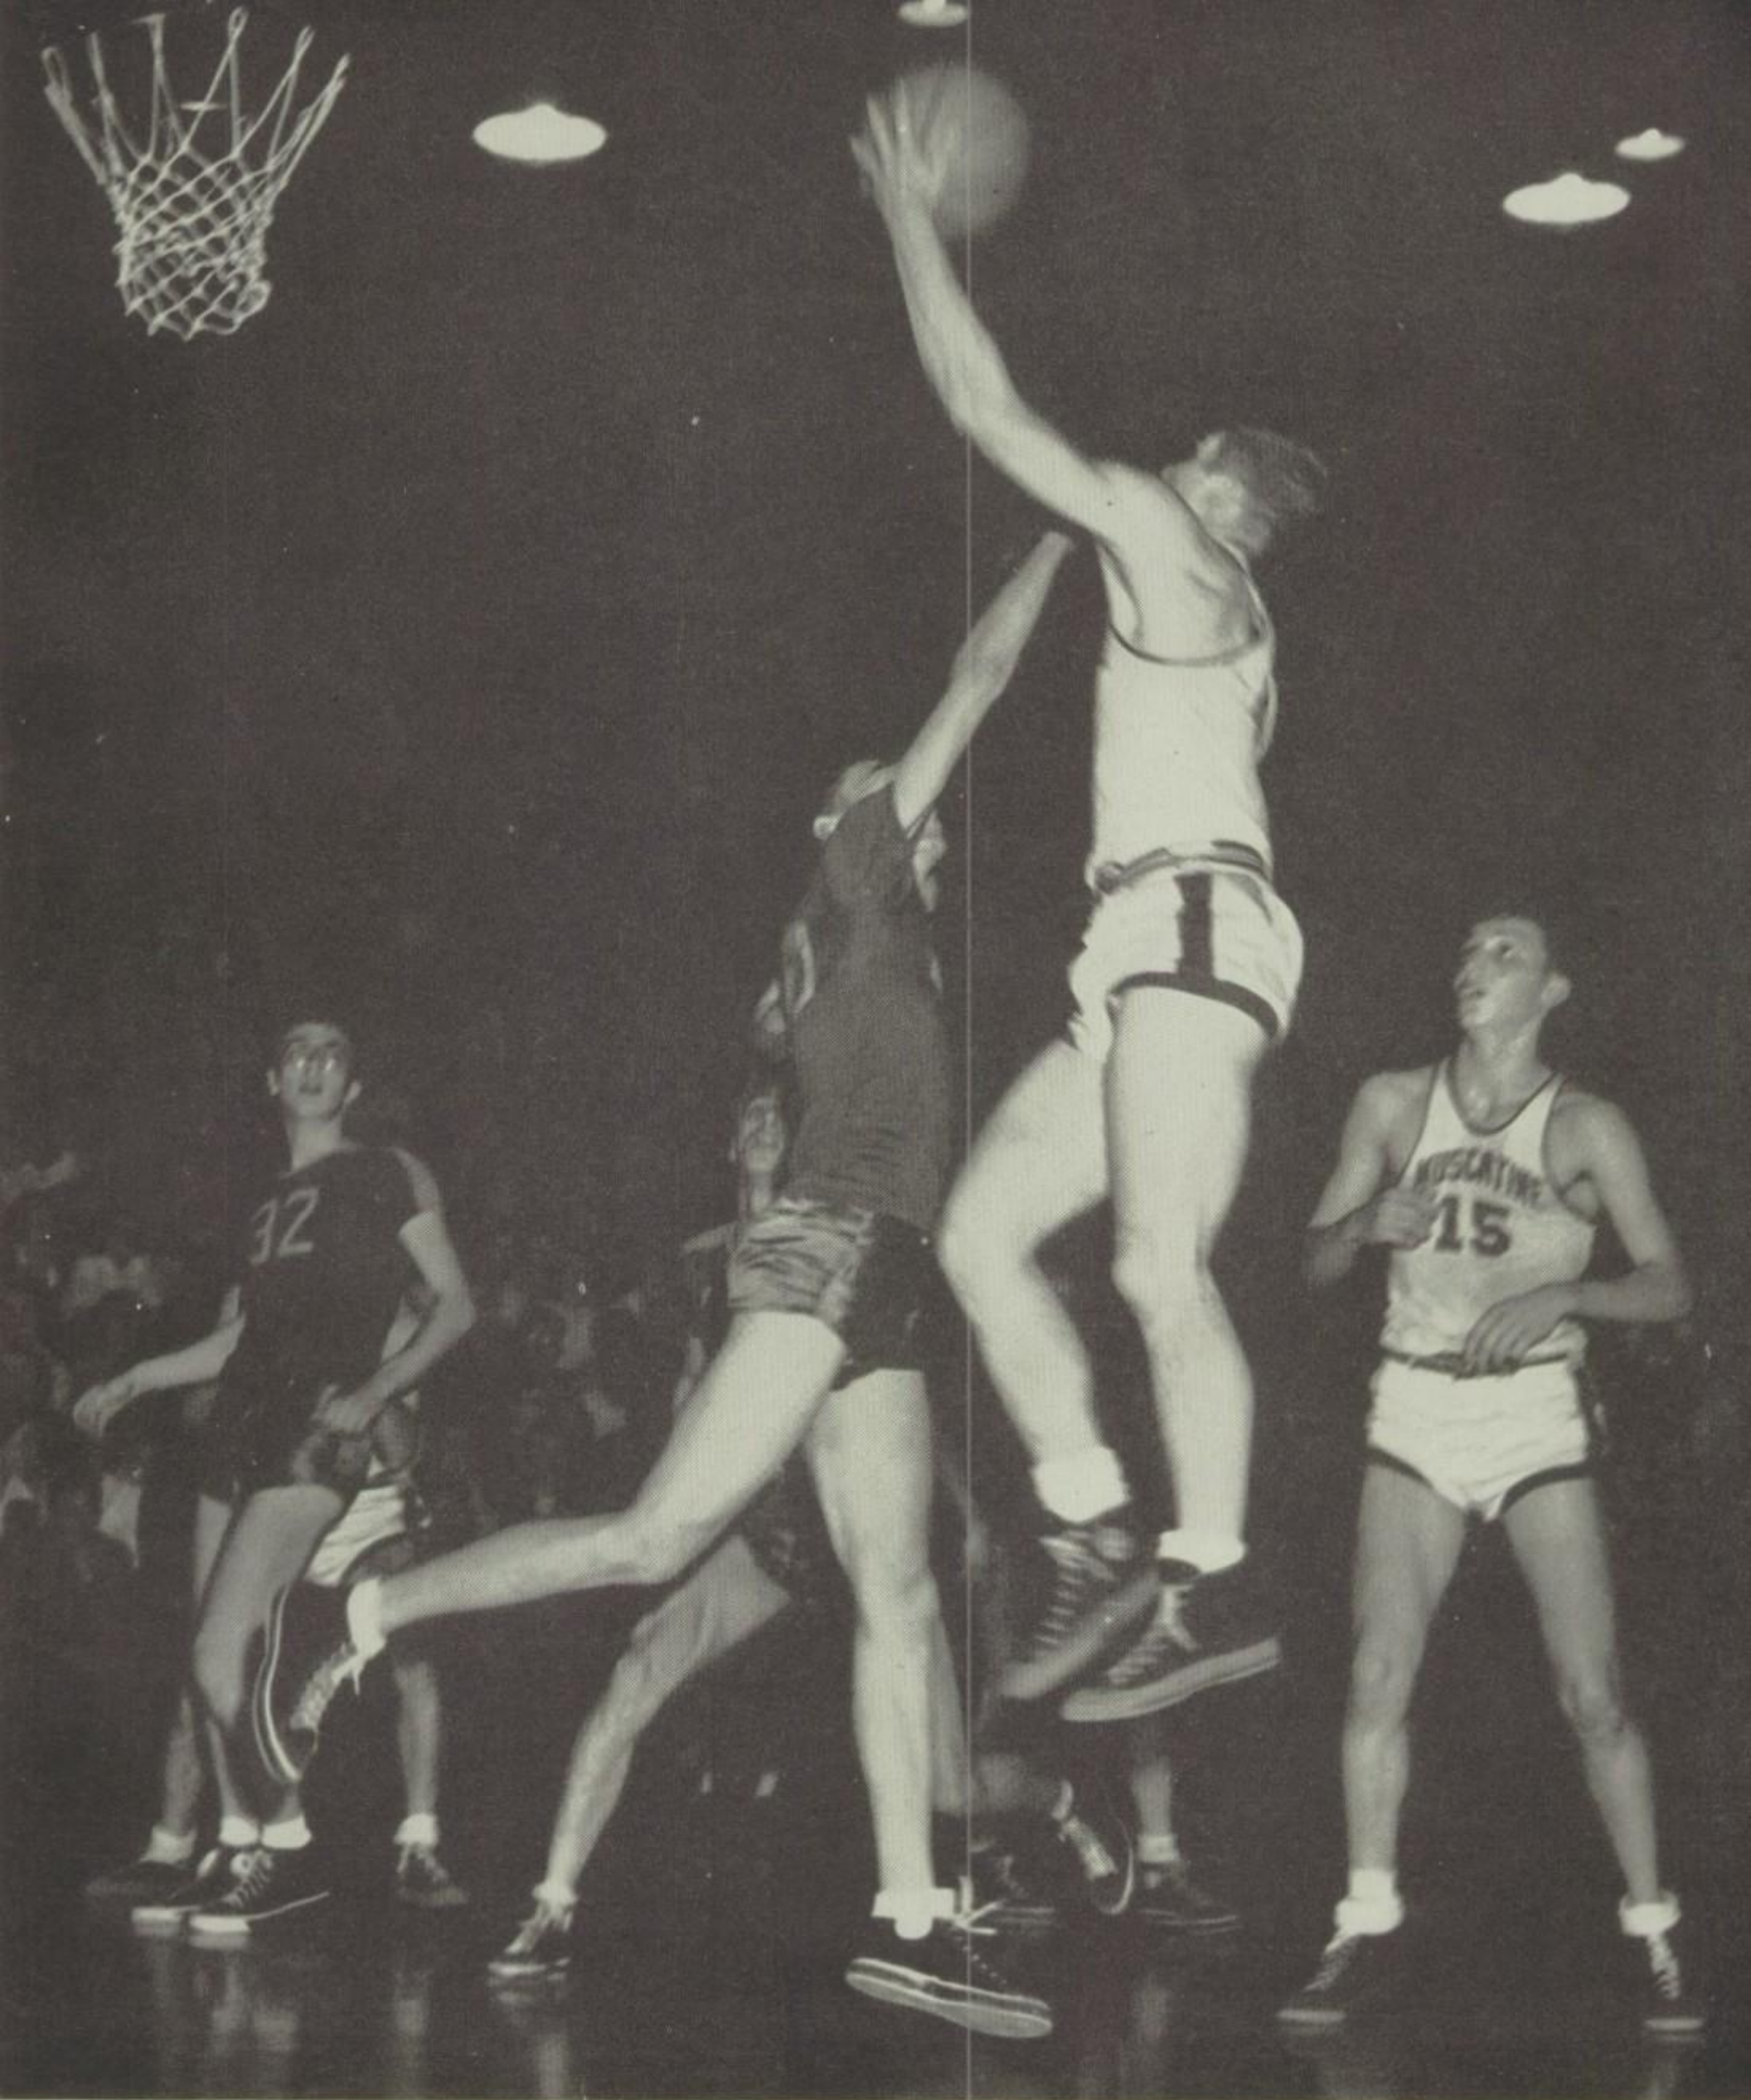

Action is always at its peak when the Muskies meet the Blue Devils from Davenport, and this year was no exception. Jake Phelps (right) and Ken Buckles, Davenport, conceived identical ideas of capturing the ball. The Blue Devils won the clash 59-42. Bob Herwig uncorked an attempt good for two points that aided in downing the Mt. Pleasant Panthers. Jerry Grady (3), Jake Phelps (10), and Tom Johnson (15) awaited the possible rebound.

Whenever any Muscatine athletes decide to do something, they go all the way, or as near as it is humanly possible. Seemingly having sprouted wings after eluding a Fairfield defender, the Musky captain and all-conference guard, Jake Phelps, boosted a pair of counters through the hoop to help the Old Gold quintet down the Trojans in their second conference game of the season. The Muskies won the game with the score 45-27.

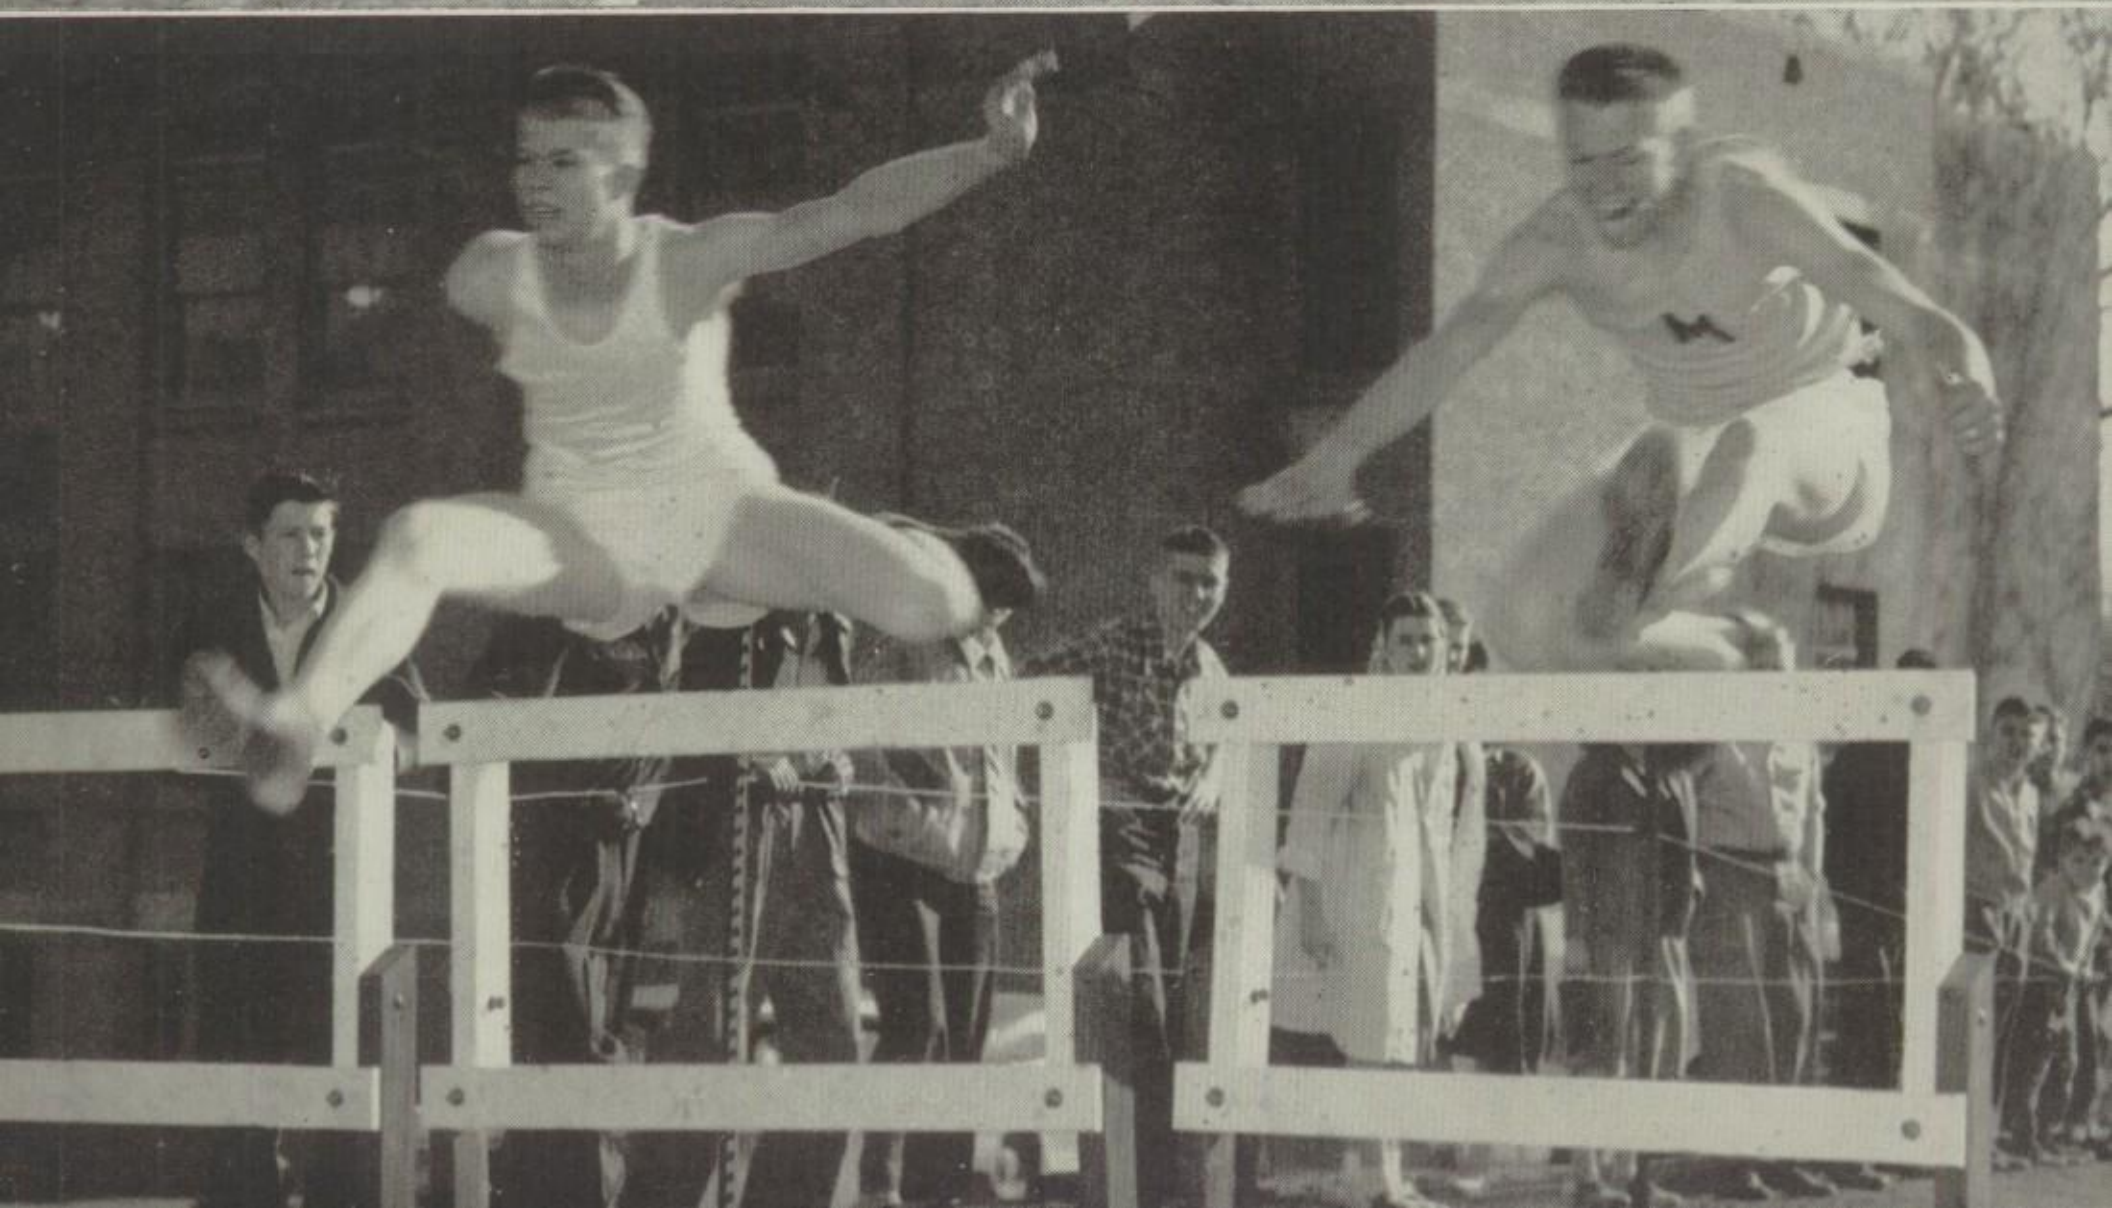

Throughout the season, Musky basketball players evidently had a liking for upper atmosphere. Jerry Grady, Purple and Gold forward, snatched a rebound and prevented it from falling into the hands of a cluster of Mt. Pleasant Panthers. The Muskies make it two straight over the Panthers for the '48-'49 season by dumping them in their second meeting, thus helping to bring about second place honors in the conference for Muscatine.

Thrills and action were at a fever pitch whenever the Muskies took to the court, but excitement was at its peak when the Old Gold entertained the Burlington Grayhounds. Soaring past a Burlington defender, George Hahn, Musky guard, racked a brace of points to aid the Muscatine quintet in slipping past Burlington in a double overtime thriller 47-45. Tom Johnson (15) eagerly waited a possible chance to rebound.

A balmy spring afternoon (1948 season) found Musky track members taking their work-out on Jefferson Field. Don Mills wound up for what he hoped would be a good heave in the discus throw. Ready to record his efforts was Skip Weber, assistant track coach. Clearing the first obstacle in the 120-yard high hurdles was Paul Stumme, Musky hurdler. This bit of action took place during the Muscatine-Reynolds-West Liberty meet.

Musky athletes always go all-out in their efforts to bring back a victory. Paul Stumme gave proof of this fact as he strained to clear the bar in the high jump in the 1948 Muscatine-West Liberty-Reynolds triangular. Snapping the tape, Jerry Phelps nipped Bill Johnson at the finish line in a photo finish of the hundred-yard dash in the Muscatine-West Liberty-Reynolds triangular. The Muskies swamped their opponents to turn in a victory.

A baseball program was inaugurated at Musky High last summer, and enthusiasm rose to such a fever pitch that baseball is planned again for this summer. Although Muscatine didn't have a very successful season in regard to their wins and losses, the players picked up valuable experience. Pictured above is Harlan Phillips as he skidded safely into third base in the Burlington-Muscatine game. Too late to nab a sliding Ft. Madisonite, Bob Berry caught a high throw.

Musky Honors . . .

Honors to Muskies were special rewards in scholarship and elections. Perhaps the honor looked forward to most by seniors was that of being elected representative boy or girl. The entire student body selected the representative boy and girl on the basis of service to the school and scholastic attainment evidenced by ranking in the upper third of the class. Of course, the highest scholastic honors, valedictorian and salutatorian, went to the seniors who had the highest point averages, figured on the basis of four points for an A, three points for a B, two points for a C, and one point for a D. Twenty-four seniors in the class of '49 had a three-point average or better. Apparently the advice of senior boys to freshman boys would be to consider grades more seriously. Proof of this feeling is the fact that only three senior boys made a three-point average, and a number missed the honor because of low freshman grades.

Even in high school years boys seem to convince girls that they are better suited to hold jobs. This year out of twelve class officers only four were girls.

Every year since 1938 the Bill Roach trophy has been a coveted award given in memory of Bill Roach. This trophy award is presented each year to a boy who has been selected for being outstanding in sportsmanship, leadership, perseverance, and school spirit. Also another of the top athletic honors was selection as team captain.

M.H.S. has its royalty too, and many senior girls, when the last football game rolled around, wished they could be Homecoming Queen for 1948. The student body elected the Queen after the senior class chose five candidates. The four remaining candidates acted as the Queen's attendants.

The homemaking department sponsored the Fun Festival, over which reigned the Homemaking King and Queen. Each homemaking class selected a boy and girl for candidates, and then the girls set up voting booths in the halls. They sold votes for a penny each.

In this section are the students selected for these various honors during the school year.

Evelyn Hoopes and Bob Herwig received the top honor awarded by the students in Muscatine High School: selection as representative senior boy and girl. Evelyn is familiar to Musky athletic fans, having been a cheerleader for two years. Bob's specialty is basketball. He was a forward on the 1949 squad which placed second in the Little Six Conference. Both of these seniors have scholastic averages of over three points.

Ready and waiting for their escorts to that all-important Junior-Senior Prom were Marilyn Zoller (left), salutatorian, and Donna Eichelberger, valedictorian—well, not quite ready because Donna's flower was a little bit crooked in Marilyn's estimation. Marilyn was accompanist for chorus and sang a number of solos. She also played organ music for morning devotions. Donna could be seen almost any time working in the office.

THREE-POINT SENIORS—First Row: Dona Belknap, 3.10; Marilyn Zoller, 3.758; Donna Eichelberger, 3.89. Second Row: Helen Richman, 3.53; Jo Ann Brauns, 3.75; Pat Zeug, 3.50. Third Row: Doreen Henke, 3.17; Joan Grimm, 3.10; Virginia Havercamp, 3.034. Fourth Row: Lois Safley, 3.214; Clara Wilder, 3.20; Evelyn Hoopes, 3.466. Fifth Row: Richard Sissel, 3.14; Marcia Wagner, 3.039; Marian Bloom, 3.64. Sixth Row: Marilyn Eichenauer, 3.464; Marilyn Massey, 3.210; Jacque Cook, 3.25. Seventh Row: Bob Herwig, 3.25; Darlene Van Dyke, 3.31; Beverly Essex, 3.06. Eighth Row: Jim Herriott, 3.00; Irene Schmarje, 3.16; Nevada Kever, 3.17.

These new-fangled instruments that are in use nowadays are very complicated. The office switchboard is one of these intricate affairs if one is inexperienced in its ways. Mary Ann Yarck, senior secretary-treasurer, found this true when she started messing around with the switches and wires. Laughing at her efforts and making no attempt to help a fellow officer were Jerry Phelps, president, and Bob Herwig, vice-president.

Al Watson (center), junior class president, held the cookie jar for his fellow officers, Tom Johnson (left), secretary-treasurer, and George Hahn, vice-president. Tom was evidently afraid he wouldn't get his share of the fast diminishing supply of cookies. George, with both hands full, laughed at Tom's well-based fear. Even though he held the jar in one hand, Al wasn't robbed of his share, and he didn't seem worried that he would be.

Muskies take time out from their work for many hobbies and pastimes. The sophomore class officers decided to make a scrapbook by which to remember their M.H.S. days. Jimmie Sturms (left), secretary-treasurer, cut the desired clippings, giving them to President Bob Berry to look over and o.k. The remaining job fell to Marilyn Mason, vice-president. It was gluing the clippings of Musky High into their respective places.

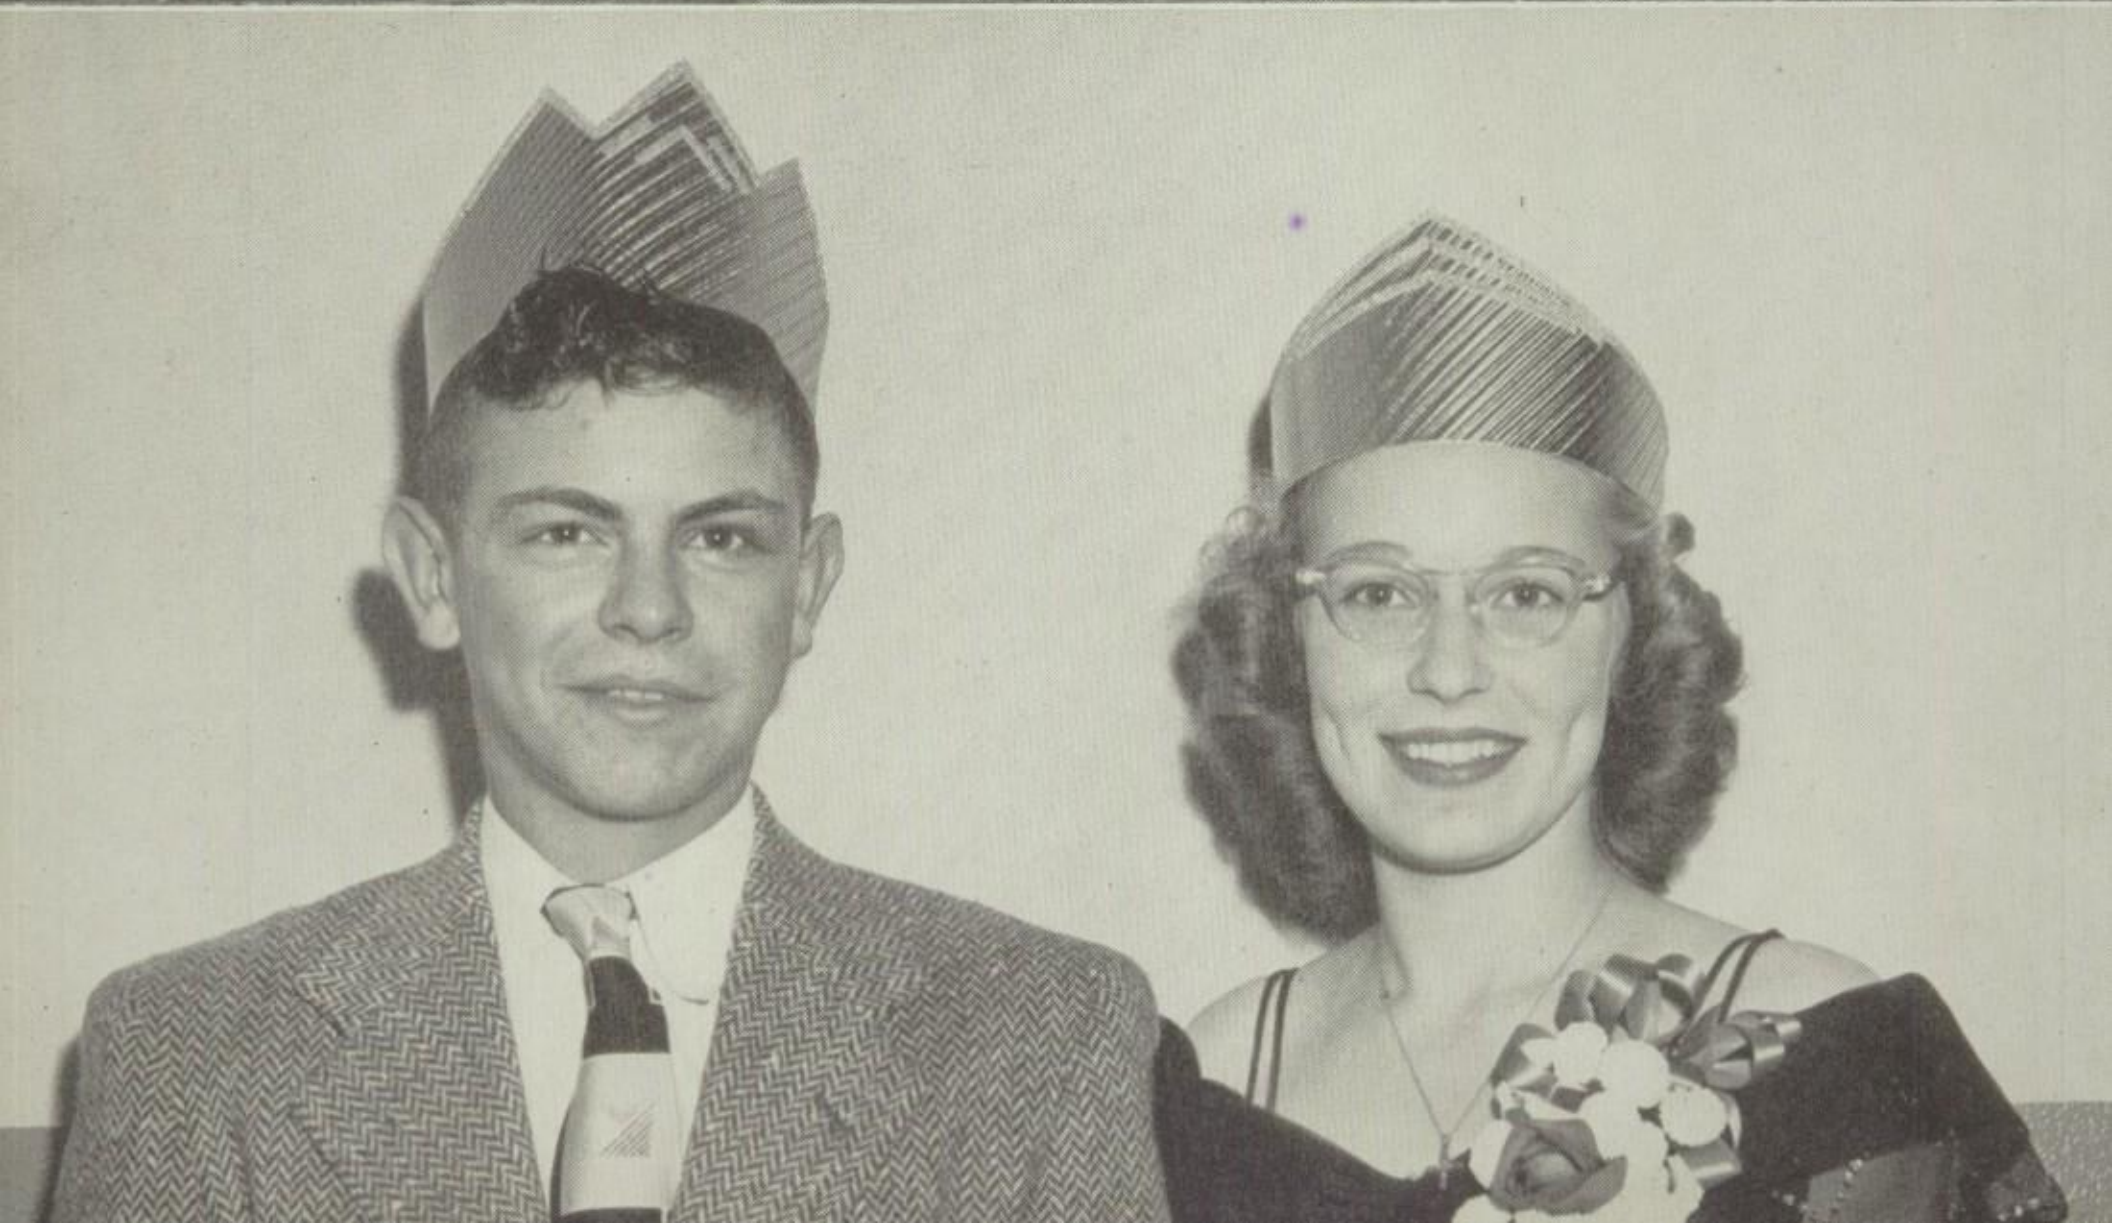

Each year the new class of freshmen are teased and made fun of, but, nevertheless, all freshmen are noted for something. David Griffith, freshman secretary-treasurer, is the kind that all the Musky gals envy. He has curly, curly hair. JoAnn Paetz (right), president, and Pat Connor, vice-president, are two of his many admirers. When he graciously gave his consent, allowing them to play with his curls, they had the time of their lives.

The Bill Roach trophy got quite a rubdown the night its owner got ambitious. The Musky was none other than John Phillips, football center and basketball student manager. John couldn't see doing the work alone, and so the basketball captain, Jake Phelps (right), got roped into helping. Bill Sturms (left) gave the impression of loafing, but his buddies worked under his competent direction. Bill and Jake were football co-captains and guards in basketball.

Big smiles have meanings. Dodie Duncan's reason was that she was Homecoming Queen and Bill Johnson her escort. Her attendants were (left to right) : Pat Zeug and Don Marine, Evelyn Hoopes and Jerry Phelps, Gloria Van Zyle and Gene Mueller, and Mary Ann Yarck and Bill Sturms. Maurice Ziegenhorn and Betty Bartenhagen presided over the Fun Festival given by the homemaking department with the co-operation of the dramatics department.

Musky Album...

In the fall of 1948 nine hundred eight teen-agers appeared in Musky halls. There were one hundred seventy-two seniors, two hundred three juniors, one hundred ninety-eight sophomores, and three hundred thirty-five freshmen. By the second semester these numbers had changed to one hundred sixty-two seniors, one hundred ninety juniors, one hundred seventy-eight sophomores, and three hundred six freshmen, making a total of eight hundred thirty-six students. One hundred sixty-four seniors received diplomas in June. Two of them, Clair Reed and Charles Hobart, do not appear in the panels.

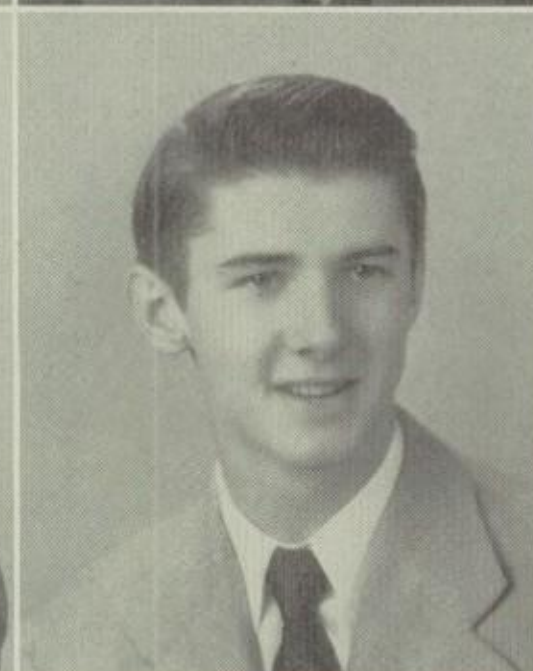

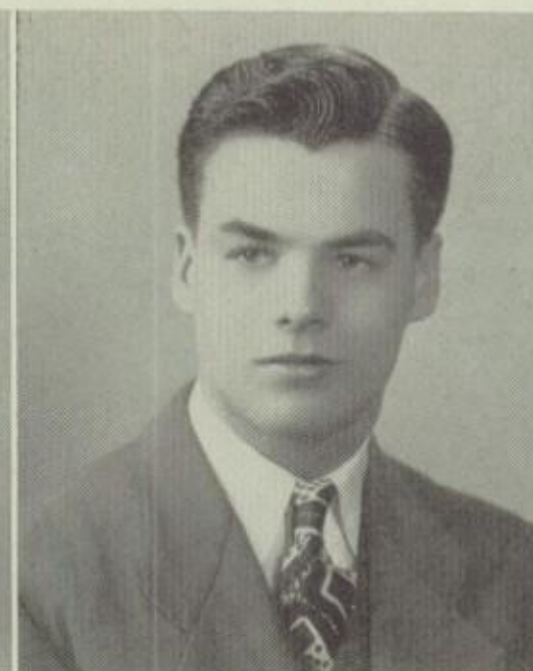

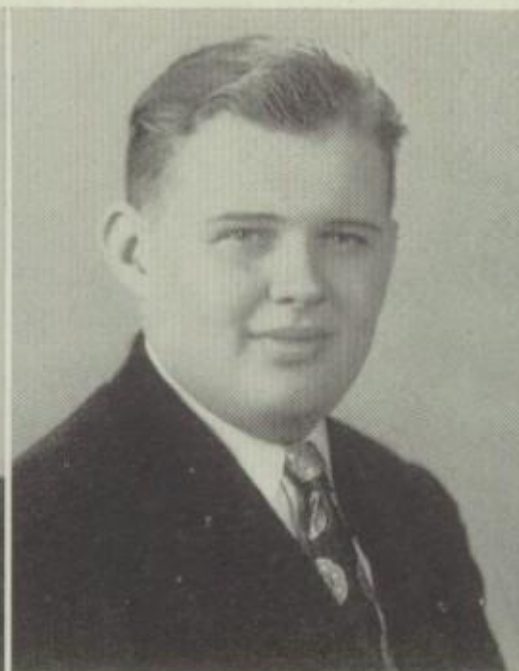

There is no doubt that the keenest interest of the majority of these Muskies is in athletics. For this reason, at the conclusion of this album section, Muskies will find individual pictures of the outstanding athletes in three leading sports: football, basketball, and baseball. The group least familiar to Muskies undoubtedly is the baseball team. This activity is carried on entirely through the summer months. Last summer there were approximately twenty-six boys out for the sport, ten of whom were 1948 graduates. The team played approximately twelve games during the summer with Little Six schools and other schools such as Iowa City. All home games were played on Heinz Field. The boys played in a state sectional tournament at Calamus and were beaten by Iowa City in an extra inning, 1-0. Lefty Schnack coached the boys this year, and he and the team are looking forward to a more successful season with one year of experience behind them.

Boys shown on the pages of individuals were those most responsible for achieving Musky athletic records in the 1948-1949 year. At the close of the football season Muskies ranked second in the Little Six. They won four games, lost two, and tied one with Mt. Pleasant. Muskies also stood in second place in the Little Six at the end of the basketball season, having won eleven games and lost three in conference play.

Senior Leaders in M.H.S. Activities

Seniors were active members of various activity groups, who will miss them when school begins in September. Chorus claimed twenty-three seniors. Doug McConnaha seemed to be the busiest lad, singing in the mixed quartet, boys' quartet, and madrigal group and serving as soloist and assistant director. Marian Bloom, Jo Ann Brauns, and John Hahn also sang in the madrigal group. Marian sang in the mixed quartet, and John was one of the soloists. Charles Sabbath and Bob Toussaint sang in the boys' quartet. Charles was also a soloist. Gloria Van Zyle, Marilyn Zoller, and Audrey Spratt sang in girls' sextets. Marilyn was also chorus accompanist and a soloist. Jacque Cook served as small group and soloist accompanist . . . Thirteen seniors belonged to the Musky band. Jerry Newton was student director. Janet Rummells, Marjorie Lewis, Gene Baillie, Lawrence Harden, and Mary Alice Hoopes were members of the brass sextet. Irene Schmarje was a member of the woodwind trio, and she and Bob Jones were members of the clarinet quartet . . . Twenty-seven seniors participated in dramatics this year. During their high school careers these senior dramatists acted in the following plays: "A Credit to the Family," "The Great American Family," and the senior play, "Dear Ruth." Seniors who acted in "Dear Ruth" were: Dolores Duncan, Victor Finkle, Don Freeman, Marian Isaacs, Don Marine, Jerry Miller, Phyllis McKeown, Donna O'Brien, Lois Safley, and Ray Shoultz. Ann Prochaska was prompter . . . Miss H. Margaret Kemble's stage crew boasted thirteen senior members. Two of them, Virginia Havercamp and Pat Zeug, worked on the stage for two years. Virginia was especially good in helping with the lighting . . . Debaters will lose only two fellow workers this year, Jim McKinney and Jerry

Miller. In his junior year Jim was chosen top boy debater in the state, and he was also on the state champ debate team. Jerry went out for radio speaking and debate . . . AURORAN staff members are generally extremely conscious of their particular activity during their last semester in school because yearbook work demands much of their spare time. Helen Richman worked on the staff three years. She was a feature writer as a sophomore, assistant editor as a junior, and editor as a senior. Tom Marten was staff photographer in his junior and senior years. Doreen Henke was editor of the editorial page in her senior year, and Mary Boese was a feature writer. George Wecksung was sports editor . . . A Squad basketball will miss five players next year, Bob Herwig, Tommy Thomas, Jerry Grady, Jerry Phelps, and Maynard Brugman, who were all members of the '49 squad. Jerry Phelps was chosen captain . . . Seven seniors, Harlan Phillips, Jerry Grady, Dale Schreurs, Bill Greenwald, Dewayne McIntyre, Bob Herwig, and Maynard Brugman, were members of the baseball team. Harlan was elected captain for 1949 . . . Eighteen husky seniors were members of the football team. Bill Sturms and Harlan Phillips were on the first all-conference team, and Jerry Phelps and Harry Lewis were on the second conference team. Bill Johnson and Bob Jones received honorable mention on the conference team. Most of the other players received letters. John Phillips received the Bill Roach award, and Jerry Phelps and Bill Sturms were chosen as captains of the 1948 team. Others on the Musky team were Don Marine, Kenny Phelps, John Hahn, Victor Ziegenhorn, Marvin Hoeksema, Ray Schmelzer, Bill Greenwald, Stanley Zahniser, Don Mills, Lemuel Massey, and Dick Rieke, student manager.

Musky Activities . . .

Muskies didn't study constantly, for they always found time for various activities offered by the school. The Future Farmers of America and their adviser, L. B. Hoopes, operated the check-room at basketball games. They had a grain show, several other contests, a Dad's night program, and the Parent-Son banquet. They also found time for a few parties . . . The M.H.S. band, directed by Max Smith, entertained Muskies during the half-times at games. Members of band participated in the massed band at the County Music Festival. In addition, they played host to the Little Six Band Festival . . . N.F.L. members received many honors at contests. Early in the season the A Squad debate team brought home two trophies, first place at Coe College and second place at Augustana . . . Thespians found producing the Fun Festival a job. They also sponsored noon plays and exchange plays, plus some good times . . . Apprentice Players gave a Christmas play and assisted at various events by ushering and taking tickets . . . G.A.A. girls took charge of the Homecoming dance, played several basketball games, and went on an overnight trip to Rotary Lodge . . . Future Homemakers held meetings each month, their programs including skits and panel discussions. A picnic honoring the seniors closed the year for F.H.A. . . . Students in Curia Regia had fun having a Christmas party, a tea for former members, and a picnic. They, too, had informative programs at their meetings . . . Musky Library Club performed the duties of cataloging and classifying books. For social times they had a Christmas party and a spring picnic . . . Hi-Y boys took two educational trips, and the Hi-Y basketball team won the southeastern Iowa basketball tournament . . . Hi-Tri girls sponsored a Sock Hop, a tot party, and later a parent-youth clinic in conjunction with Hi-Y . . . Amicae officers went to the Southwest District Conference at Ottumwa. The club had a Christmas party for tots, and besides this they had a skating party . . . M.H.S. chorus presented the "Messiah," participated in the County Music Festival and Little Six Music Festival and presented the musical comedy "In Old Vienna." The small groups sang for numerous business and professional club programs during the year.

Musky Supporters . . .

AURORAN staff members appreciate the fact that the merchants of Muscatine have supported their publications through forty-two years of good times and bad times. Many of these merchants have a long record of loyal support through advertising in Musky yearbooks, monthly magazines, and newspapers. This year the merchants have provided thirty per cent of the total cost of the book through their advertising.

Some of the names in this 1949 advertising section appear in the early years. In the first yearbook, published in 1908, are advertisements of Wilson's Shoe Store and Batterson's Department Store. In 1909 appear the first ads of McColm's, Roach and Musser, and Huttig's. The 1910 yearbook adds W. G. Block Coal Co., Umscheid and Asthalter, G. A. Chaudoin, S. G. and P. Stein Furniture Company, and George Kranz Florist. Titus Loan and Investment Company and Moore and Meerdink join the rank in 1911, J. E. Kranz in 1912, and Chocolate Shop, Muscatine Journal, and Luellen Cleaners in 1914.

Readers may glean other interesting data from these ads. For instance, one might wonder if Batterson's ad in 1910, "Right at the Switch," referred to the street car tracks. McColm's, in 1909, advertised "Beautiful dainty waists." Wilson's, in 1919, offered for sale "White kid Colonials, full French carved heels, beaded buckle, long vamp, all sizes!" Another advertisement which gives evidence of changing times was that of Moore and Meerdink's in 1914 for blue serge suits for graduation.

Muskies' pocketbooks must have been in much different circumstances in the old days. In 1909 the Bijou Theater offered an entire change of program every night for five cents, and the 1912 yearbook sold for twenty-five cents.

Through the years new advertisers have added their support to the AURORAN publications. Members of the 1949 AURORAN staff wish to express gratitude for the interest which their merchant friends, new and old, have evidenced in their project.
